WE BLAST OFF

From B-CC To Outer Space

Reports of sending up a rocket, putting a satellite into orbit, and accomplishing a successful countdown permeated our world within a world at Bethesda-Chevy Chase Senior High School. Is the U.S. ahead? When will we put a man into outer space? Is our educational system good enough? Is our age one of jets, atoms, missiles, or space?

As we think of the many facets of the problem created by Sputnik, we realize that each day we face our own countdown toward graduation. Our rockets are our college and job applications, and those we send up aren't always successful, either. The problem of putting our satellite into the orbit of medicine, science, or teaching is a matter of great concern.

How does our educational system rate? We wonder and take a quiet look at what we are doing, the standards set. Our age is one of opportunity, and as we are reassured, we survey B-CC and review its reflection in the 1960 PINE TREE. We know that we are ready to face the world.

He Is Just Away

He is just away. He lives in the hearts and ideals of those who were privileged to know him. His loyalty to young people was very deep. It was based on his sincere respect for their sense of integrity and their ability to meet the challenges of life honestly and courageously. Youth responded enthusiastically to this respect and returned it whole-heartedly. Mr. Pyles was truly touched and humbled by their expressions of affection and loyalty.

He paid his students and his fellow workers the compliment of his friendship. This was no light compliment. He was emphatic in his expectations and took his stand with firmness. Courtesy and consideration of others were a part of his code.

Mr. Pyles was a man of firm convictions and sound educational philosophy. As an expression of his convictions and philosophy, one of his favorite mottoes has been placed in strategic locations in the building. He believed that it applied to educators and fathers, as well as to mothers.

"To be a mother of men, a woman must make men of her boys. She demands their best, not because it belongs to her, but because it is due to them. For that which is due children is not ease and luxury but hardening of muscles, the habit of work, a sense of honor, and a self respect born of integrity."

We carry in our hearts the memory of a beloved friend. Let us strive to be worthy of his confidence! How proud a heritage he leaves!

by Miss Dorothy Young
Vice Principal

Jerry Gimmel, president of SGA, presented a silver bowl to Mr. Pyles in behalf of the students in appreciation of his ten years as principal.

The annual PTA Tea honored Mr. Pyles and the teachers as it welcomed Mr. Joseph Tarallo as the new principal. Mr. Pyles had become Director of Personnel.

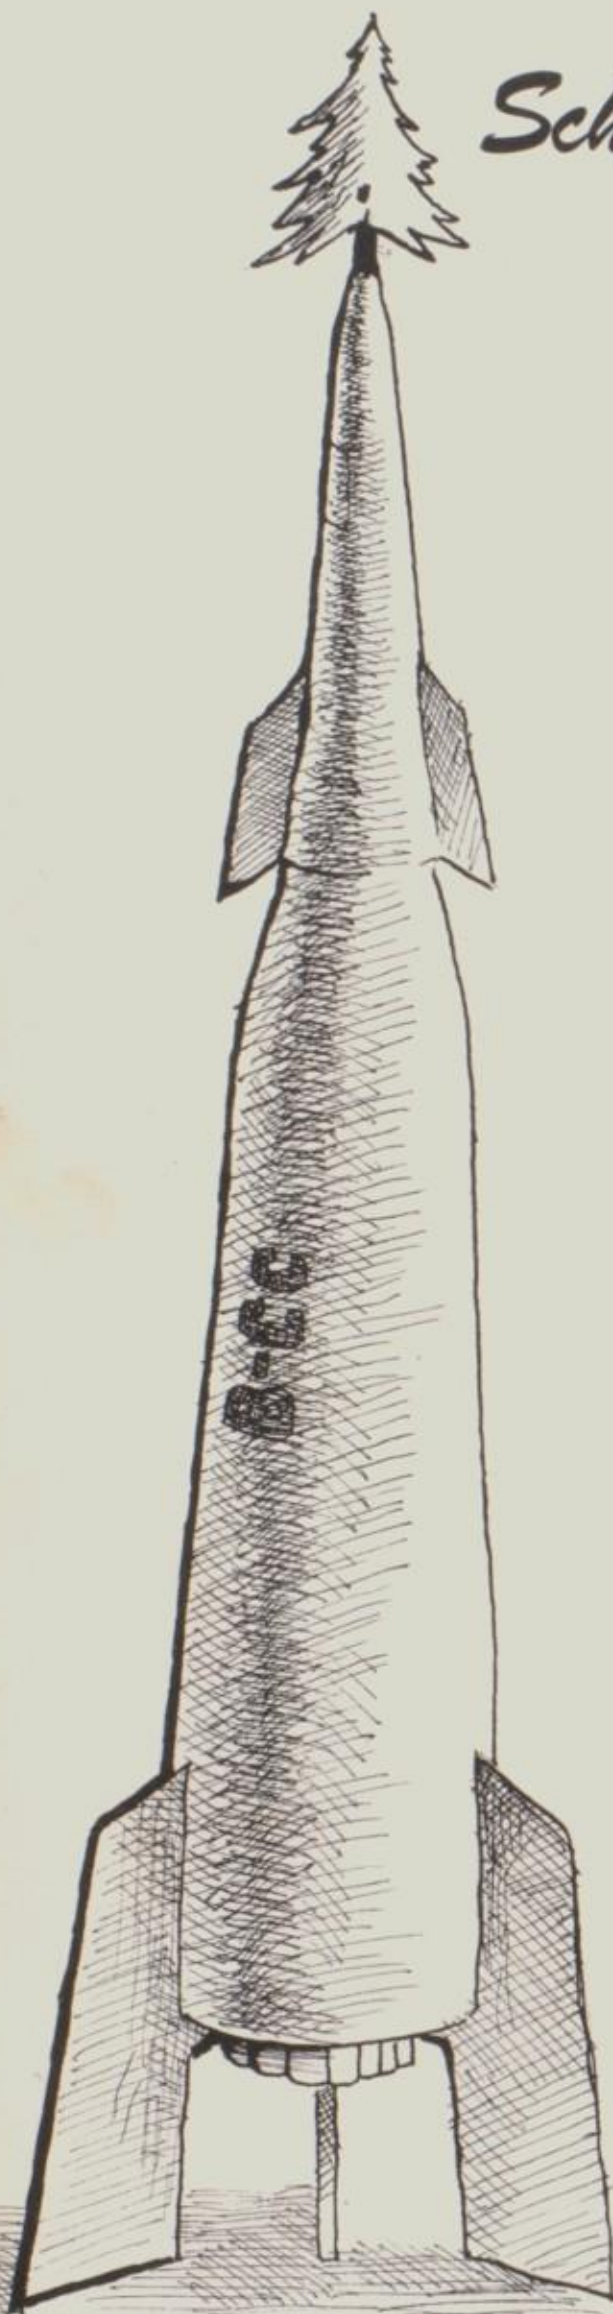

Miss Lillian Moore and Miss Bernadette Sheehan receive gifts from Mr. Pyles in behalf of the PTA upon the completion of twenty-five years of teaching at B-CC.

Mr. Harry Ames, president of PTA, and Mr. Tarallo congratulated Mr. Pyles for a job well done and on his new assignment.

ROCKET LAUNCHED

Activities are the key-note in school life and this year has had its share. Did you know that our Mile Relay team placed second in Madison Square Garden? That this Senior Class has a record number of Merit Scholars? That a Spruce Tree hit the dust during Blair Week?

Unpredicted fire alarms, off-beat clocks, and corrected announcements gave an air of nonconformity to the school day. Assemblies entertained the student body and added pleasure to that time of life which we shall always view as ideal, at least our parents tell us so.

First day of school is a trying experience. Mr. Zimmerman helps a sophomore find her new homeroom.

Mr. Davis explains the jumble of homeroom sections to bewildered sophomores, who sometimes discover they must review their alphabet and their sense of direction.

Jane Boskoff and Betsy Kamarck check the bus schedule to make sure they have a way home from school.

Where To Go?

Hello, B-CC; good bye, Ocean City.

We descended in hordes on the first day of classes. Outside at the blackboards we searched apprehensively for our homeroom sections and teachers.

In homerooms we compared our new schedules with our neighbor's. Cries of "I just couldn't have Chemistry first period!", and "Oh, no, not HIM!" ran rampant. The Sophomores were really too new to the daily hazards of B-CC to care. The Juniors were just getting the idea and could compare with the good old schedule of Sophomore days. Seniors were interested in being with their old cronies of two years, trying to avoid some teachers, and feverishly comparing that all-important lunch schedule.

Everyone was eager to see the new principal who had previously been assigned to Richard Montgomery. A few skeptics refused to believe there actually was a new "boss" until he was formally introduced at the assembly the next day.

A new and radical idea was inaugurated — a printed bus schedule. No longer could we use the "didn't know when the bus ran" excuse as a reason for tardiness, or even board the wrong bus in the afternoon. Some changes had been made.

Seniors Carole Gambell and Linda Garvin, used to first day turmoil, compare their new schedules.

Dennis O'Brian and a sophomore girl get acquainted with Mr. Tarallo, our new principal.

We Settled

Mr. Slate, sophomore class counselor, helps new registrants fill in the multitudinous blanks and cards.

Page Burdette and John Goldsmith are ready to make announcements to our home rooms.

Mrs. Graff and Mrs. Schneider are the ones who maintain our contact with the outside world.

AM, PM.--PA

In the office, the yearly activities were gaining momentum. The switchboard lit up like a Christmas tree in recognition of the new term. Our busy office secretaries tried their best to help get us all settled in our proper rooms while they fondly reminisced about other less hectic days.

We were so proud of our new library that it was one of the most popular places in the whole school. It was open — and filled — early every morning and late every evening.

The Browsing Room was there to help the seniors make up their minds about which colleges to make application but the choice was still a difficult one. After the choices were made, innumerable transcripts had to be sent. Moans of "I just know they won't accept me!" and "Oh! I wish my class rank were higher!" frequently emerged from the counselor's office.

This year we were proud to announce that an enviable eighteen B-CC students were named as National Merit Scholarship finalists. They had the well-earned air of assurance about them, a quality that the senior masses fervently wished they would attain by the time College Boards arrived.

The P.A. was ever present, directing us, cautioning us, and wishing us a good day. The voice told us where to go, when, why, and what to do when we got there -- "If we get there" muttered the sophomores. The daily announcements frequently added variety to our day by such gems of wisdom as "Good Afternoon! There is one final announcement; There are no final announcements." We could be sure that the broadcasts were not biased by payola!

Students, gathered in the new library, maintain the necessary quiet without effort.

On To College!

College catalogs from all over the U.S.A. are to be found in the Browsing Room.

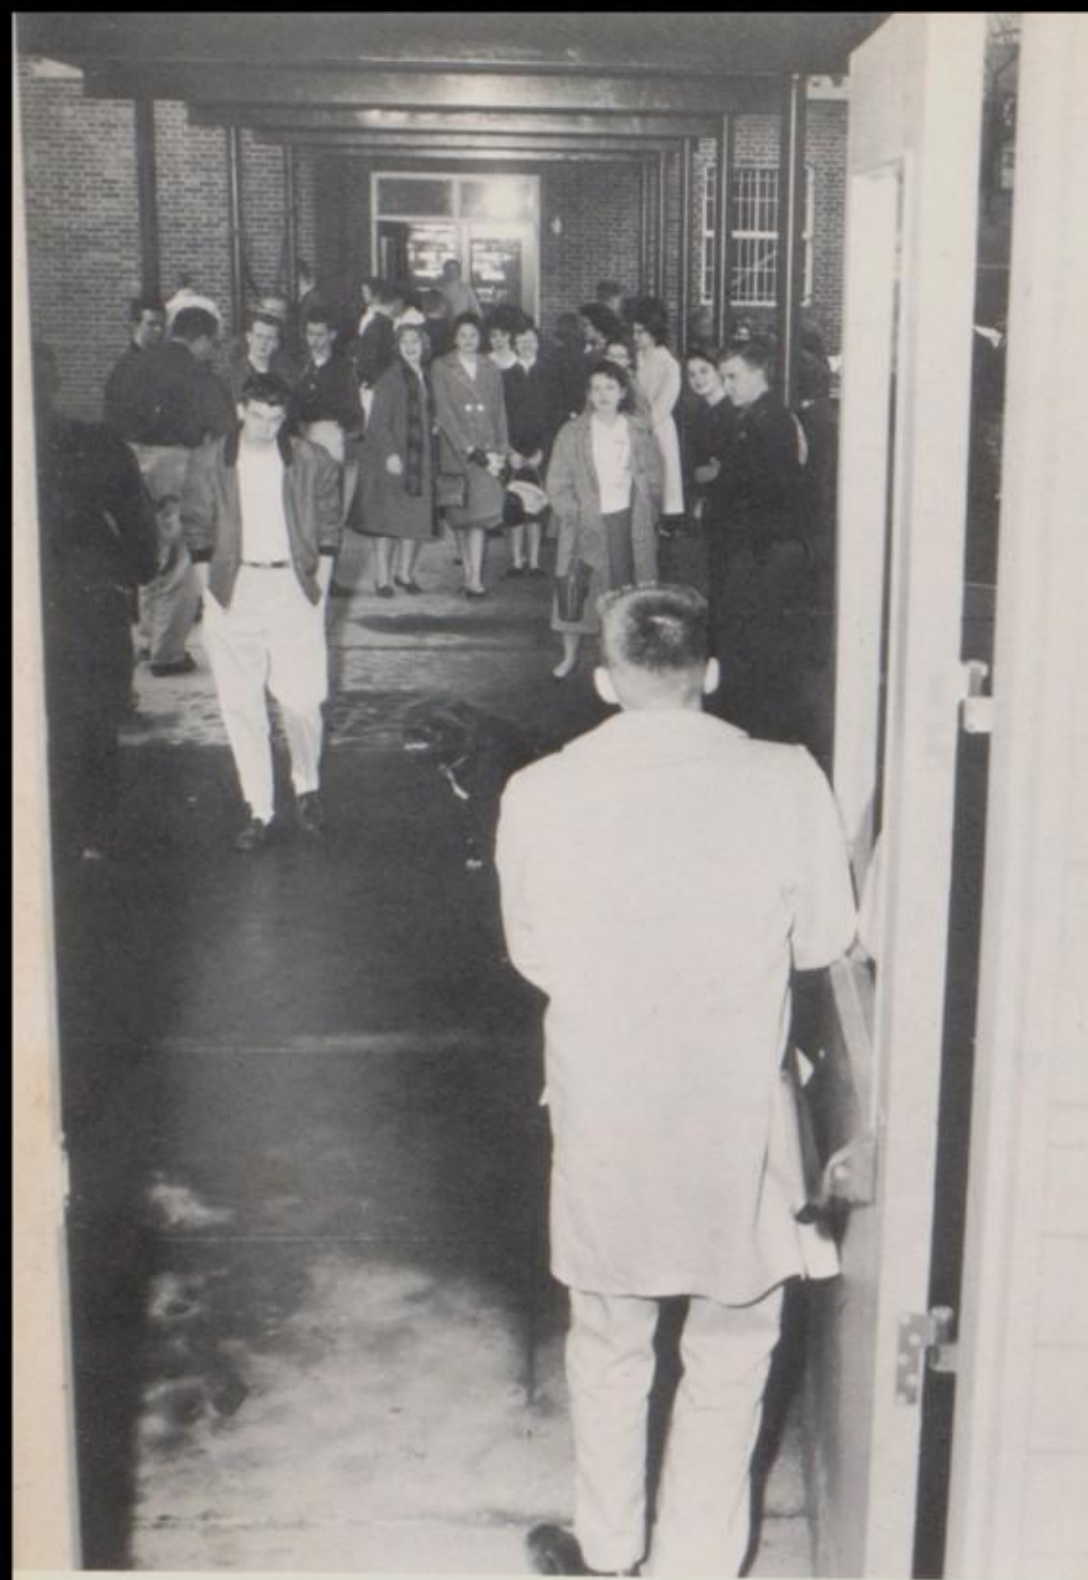

Attention to details keeps Mrs. Dawes busy as she types our endless college transcripts!

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE — Bottom Row: J. Kirk, B. Kamarck. Second Row: S. Johnson; F. Wittman, Chairman; S. Hadary.

Jubilant students pass through the door to freedom at 3:30.

The numerous purses on a cafeteria table leave little room for food.

Betty Connelly courageously makes a try at going up the down stairs in spite of S. G. A. requests.

Again this valiant student makes her way through the wrong door while mobs of righteous students stare.

Ups and Downs

1960 was marked by false fire alarms, clocks that never worked, and strange fashion fads. Were you part of the desert boot or the tennis shoe set? Everywhere we saw loden or camel outfits and even bulkier, fuzzier sweaters. And shades of the '20's! Raccoon was back!

No matter what we may say, we are by necessity, a study-conscious school. We study everywhere — the library, on vacant hall floors, and in the cafeteria.

Cafeteria was the word that spelled "chaos in 1959!"

We study in the strangest places.

Studying calls for concentration.

Study 'n Cram

"Everybody talks about, and nobody does anything about it." We were threatened from the first week of school with the cafeteria situation. "Take back your trays" was hammered into us, but to little avail.

Student Government Association discussed the problems and named a committee to make recommendations, but the solution came with the Administration's decision to accept the S. G. A. recommendation. The verdict: Suspension! and behold, what a clean cafeteria resulted.

Sharon Stahley wears this year's raccoon collar and furry mittens, while a companion sports a popular khaki raincoat.

Mornings in the cafeteria are for books, not food.

Mr. Steele, in physics class, explains the use of scales to Kaye Kittle and Judy Warren.

Mr. Campitell explains how to tell the age of a tree to Mary Schubauer, Herb Birch, and Karen Moomey.

Linda Fuller shows off the new collection of paper-back books in the school store.

Meditating upon tests, we see they have existed from the beginning of schooling. We usually don't have time to meditate!

For once we can walk leisurely to our bus!

What comes from our ceramics classes may not be Dresden China, but at least now we have proper appreciation for the dinner plates we have broken!

Future architects find they first must learn to draw a straight line.

Page Burdette, Ana Sol, and Miss Vick take care of the money transactions in the school bank at lunch time.

Mr. Tarallo always greets us with a smile of welcome.

Work Requires Concentration

We soon found out that classwork was every bit as important as outside activities. The inevitable tests soon began to rear their ugly heads. There were so many new teachers and courses! Our dormant minds were prodded into action.

We were proud to say that classroom panel discussions were not rigged as opposed to the ill-fated television quiz shows! The familiar reports and research papers were once more heaped upon us, but we somehow survived that trying period of getting back into the groove and went on to show our teachers that we had grown up.

The school bank was a hive of activity as eager students rushed to buy budget cards, pay shop fees, and deposit savings. Down the hall at the school store something new was added during the year in the form of a wide selection of paper back books. They covered a myriad of subjects from The Mouse That Roared to A Short History of the Civil War.

Soon after school opened, Washington was visited by the distinguished first citizen of the U.S.S.R., Mr. Nikita S. Krushchev. Although "Mr. K's" schedule was rushed, he and his entourage were represented by a brief appearance at our talent assembly.

Fortunately, classes were not eternal, and at the end of the day our fleet of busses was ready to take us home — where we could do our homework. We just couldn't escape.

Friedner Wittman appears to be writing on the tablecloth as he listens to Alix's "motherly advice."

During a Glass Menagerie rehearsal Alix Roterus tries to sell magazines.

"Lola wants you," say Vicki Teil, Ana Sol, and Patti Williams!

Make Believe

Under Mr. Dalla Santa's patient direction, determined-to-be-successful actors presented an excellent drama year.

Taming the Shrew, B.C.C.'s first production, gave the audience many new sights, from Petruchio's spanking the Shrew to the male actors in short togas! This theatre-in-the-round production was hilariously amusing and all saw Shakespeare in a different guise.

The students were so wrapped up in the tragic Glass Menagerie that few noticed the couch when it collapsed during a tender scene between Laura and Tom.

A vivacious, enticing Lola and a shy, boyish Joe Hardy held in bond by the cunning Devil Applegate, plus scads of other characters, gave much variety and enjoyment to the hit-musical Damn Yankees. Replacing the Extravaganza, this play was anticipated and enjoyed by the whole school, Senator and Yankee baseball fans alike! The result was a cast of 450.

An artistic Christmas display is admired by Virginia Jecko and her friend.

Fred Wiener plays postman and fills a mailbox with festive presents for the display case Christmas decorations.

Art students show off their talents by painting holiday murals on the many B-CC windows.

Reflections

September arrived and we came back to a smaller quad and some dazzling new buildings. Before we knew it Thanksgiving was here and students gathered for the annual assembly. Three speakers gave inspiring religious messages and the A Cappella Choir rendered varied musical selections.

Christmas followed soon and the school was bedecked with attractive holiday decorations. Art students filled the windows with interesting scenes and the display cases attracted passing students. We looked ahead and counted the days till our glorious vacation.

Father O'Donahughe, Rabbi Scolnic, and The Reverend Charles Rother participate in the annual Thanksgiving Assembly.

A peek from the shower rooms provides an interesting view of the remaining quadrangle.

Karen Finstad and Cathy Briggs check student teacher assignments to assure successful Senior Days.

Year's Features

February brought the two Senior Days when Seniors take over the school. The faculty and administration released their positions to eager students who kept the classes in constant hilarity. After this experience, the Seniors had new reverence for the teaching career and their teachers who must regularly face what they did for two days.

A look at our trophies brings back a flood of memories. Our teams have established a record of which we are proud and we strive to leave with our school an attractive array marking our own accomplishments.

The many glittering trophies on display near the Boys' Gym are admired by Paige Lavery.

Girl watching is a recognized hobby and requires much time.

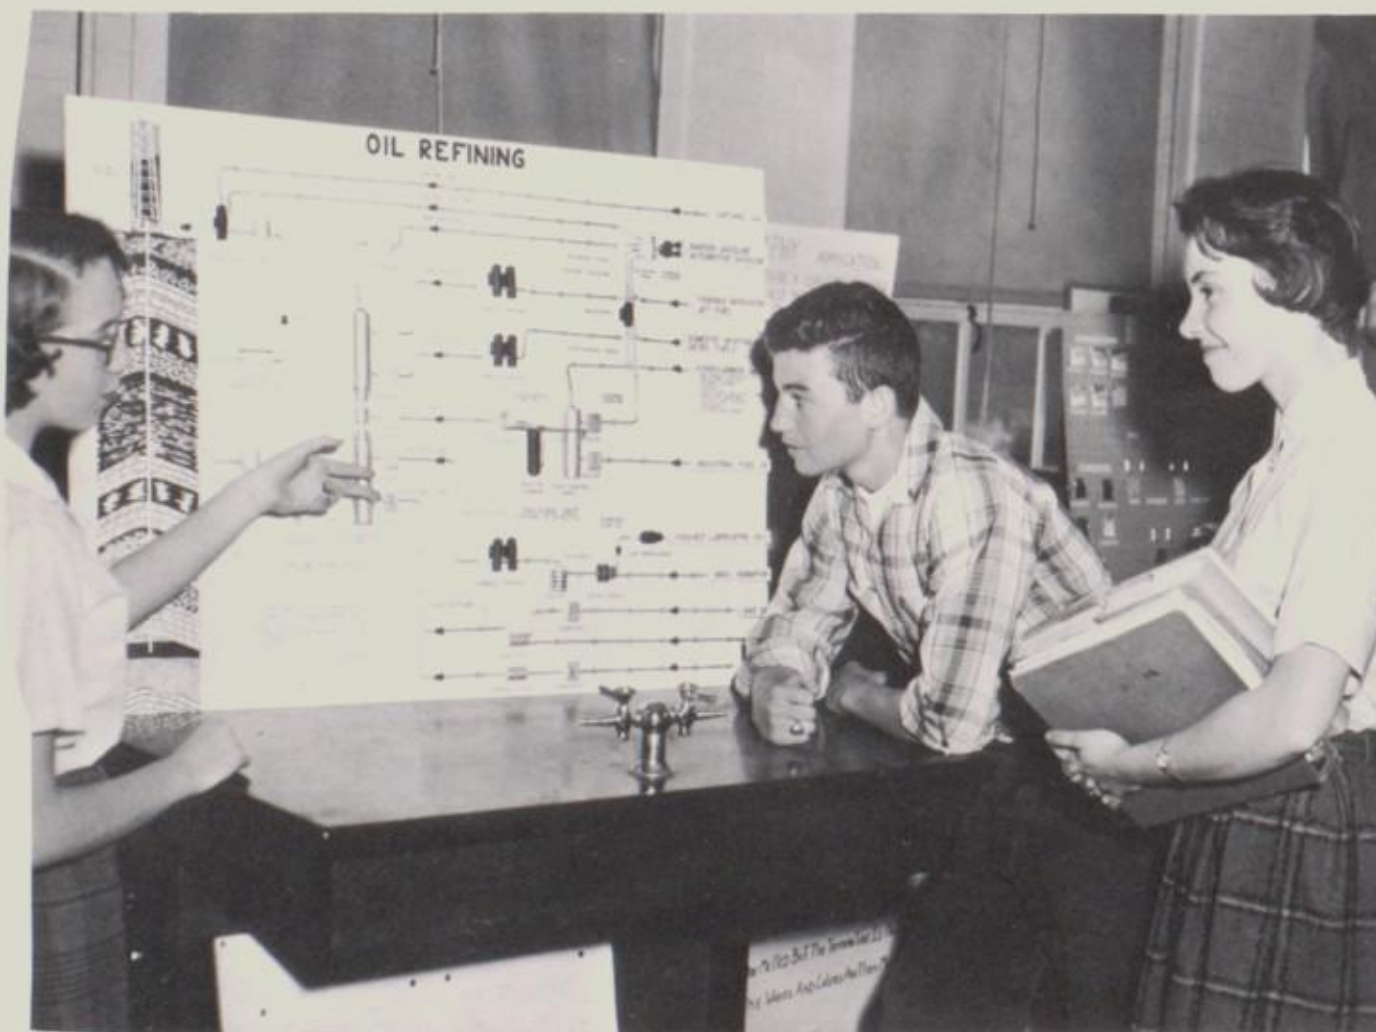

Leah Hawkins' fuzzy dog is the center of the girls' attention for collecting stuffed animals was the latest fad.

Spring--School?

Our ambition was not outer space in the spring of 1960 but college space. Fully aware that hitching our wagon to a star was outdated, we planned to hitch our Volkswagen to a Sputnik or a satellite to Venus.

And then the snows came! Shortly after Ground Hog Day the newspapers commented upon the relatively snowless winter. A perverse fate remedied the situation and we missed school because of snow February 15, March 2, March 3, and March 9.

Mary Mulcahy explains her science project on oil refining to David Rosen and Merrily Krause.

Mr. Zimmerman assisted the students in the School Store when the paperbacks arrived. Never before had reading for pleasure as well as a grade received such a boost.

Fairs, Carnivals, and Shows

The weather wasn't the only topic of conversation around Bethesda. As the snow melted, rehearsals for Damn Yankees hit a high for concentration. Approximately one fifth of the entire student body participated in the production.

Meanwhile, the Arts Fair was planned and the projects for the Science Fair began to take shape. April 1 saw the Science and Arts Fair in full swing.

Plans for the Carnival were called for and the bill for Senior Fees was presented to each senior.

We acclaimed Perry Klein's achievement as reported by the Associated Press and realized the changes that had occurred internationally. President Eisenhower had toured 10 countries abroad, South America, and planned to visit Russia.

We remembered that people had stopped buying cranberries because of a possibility of cancer. Our minds turned to pleasanter things with the announcement that Princess Margaret would marry Mr. Armstrong-Jones on May 6.

David Nolan demonstrates his science project to Walter Cohen, and David Hurwitz. Perry Klein poses March 6 with his amateur radio equipment. Perry and Rafael Soifer of New York, both amateur radio operators, have been credited by Massachusetts Institute of Technology as having conducted probably the world's first successful two-way radio communication with the aid of artificial satellites.

Senior Class Executive Committee met daily to plan, execute, and evaluate class business.

Sunshine and Shadows Come

"Get on the ball" expresses exactly what we did! Others might have gone for strolls; others might have enjoyed spring fever; others might have decided to coast till the last day of school. But we had things to do! We worked to maintain or improve our semester grades.

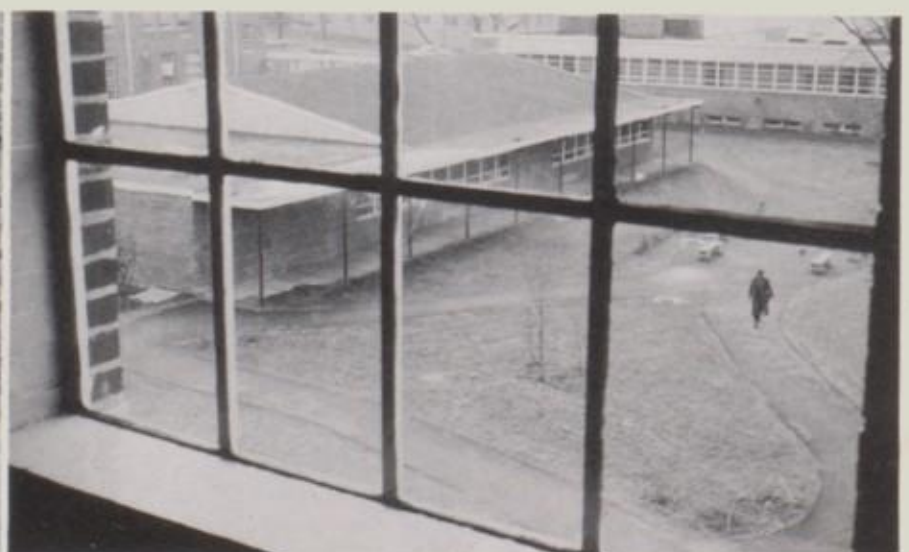

We worked on paintings in oils and water colors, on adding to the ceramic objects, and self-portraits which could be purchased at the Arts Fair. Horticulture students sold plants from their greenhouse. Science students displayed their projects in the Science Fair.

Talk turned to the SGA Carnival. Club booths were planned and money making schemes were concocted.

Horticulture students of Mrs. Green plant their own cuttings, seeds, and bulbs for practical experience.

Past the library, a student walks determinedly to the Greenhouse to water the plants.

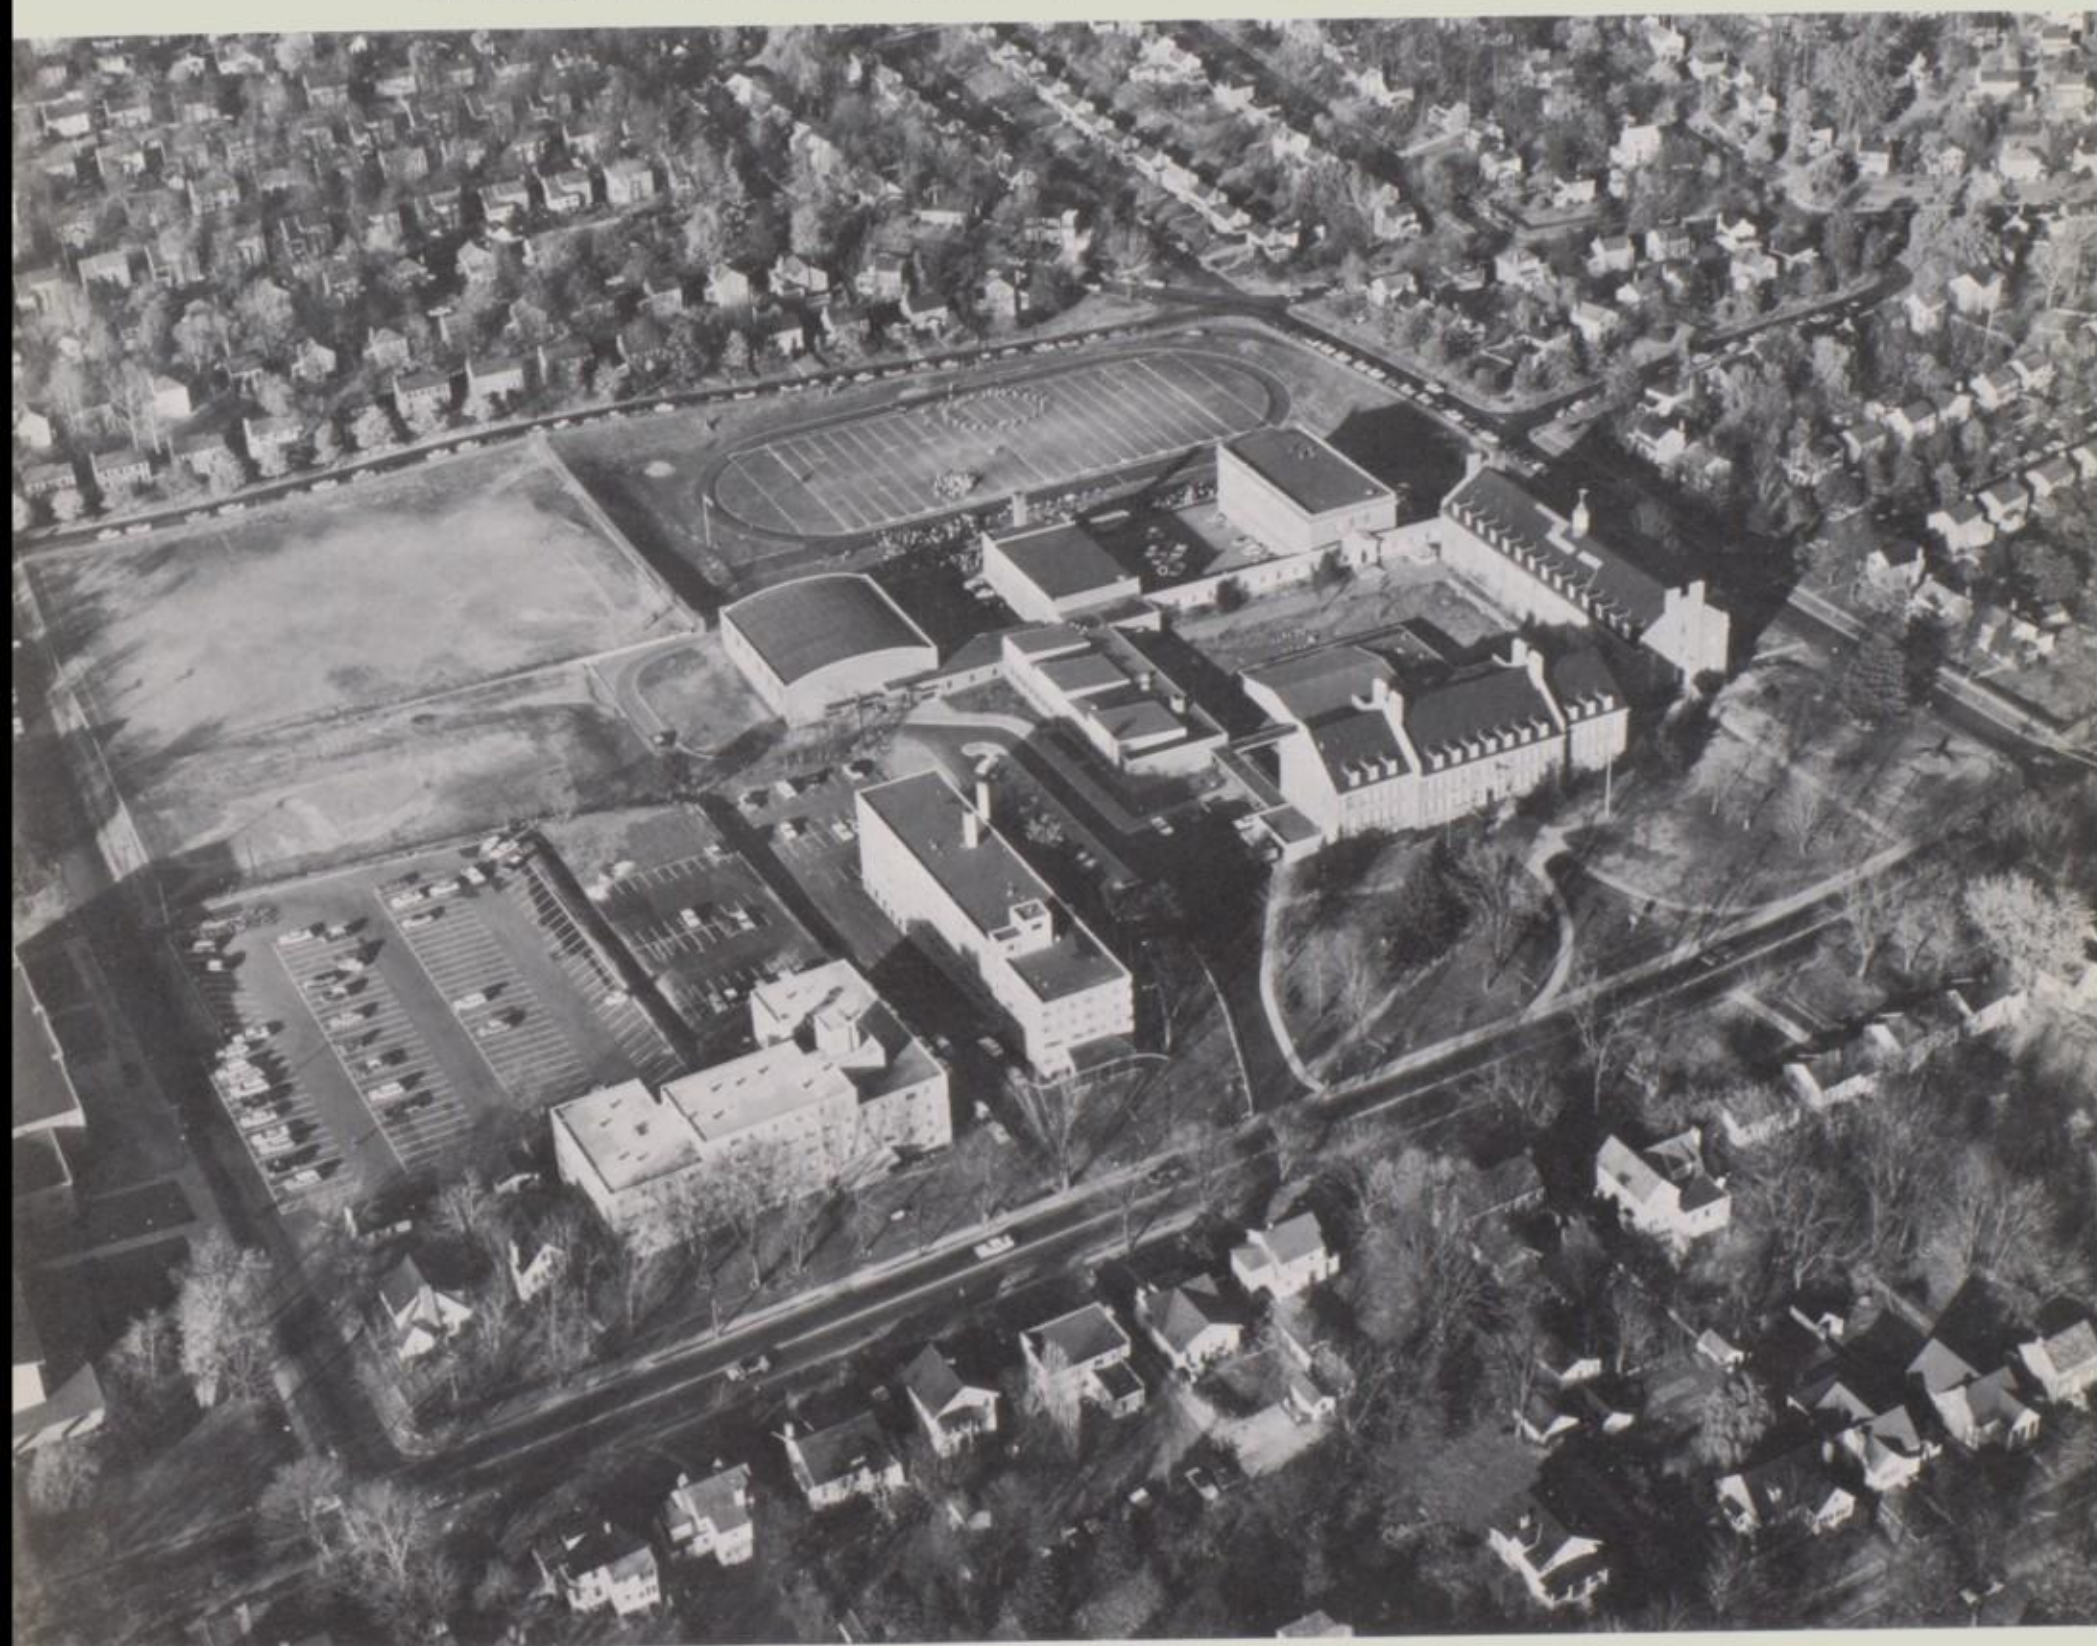

Capped and gowned we waited for the signal to march.

The Last Day

A satellite went into orbit between Earth and Venus and there were more Democratic potential candidates than one student could remember.

Summer heat arrived. Semester examinations dragged endlessly. Time seemed to stop and then Senior Week came, at last! We were excused early to practice for the Service for the Graduates and for Graduation. We chuckled at our Class Night Script and signed the underclassmen's yearbooks with a grand air. This was the end. We were graduating. In September we'd be . . . We felt regret at leaving the familiar and a thrill in anticipation of the new.

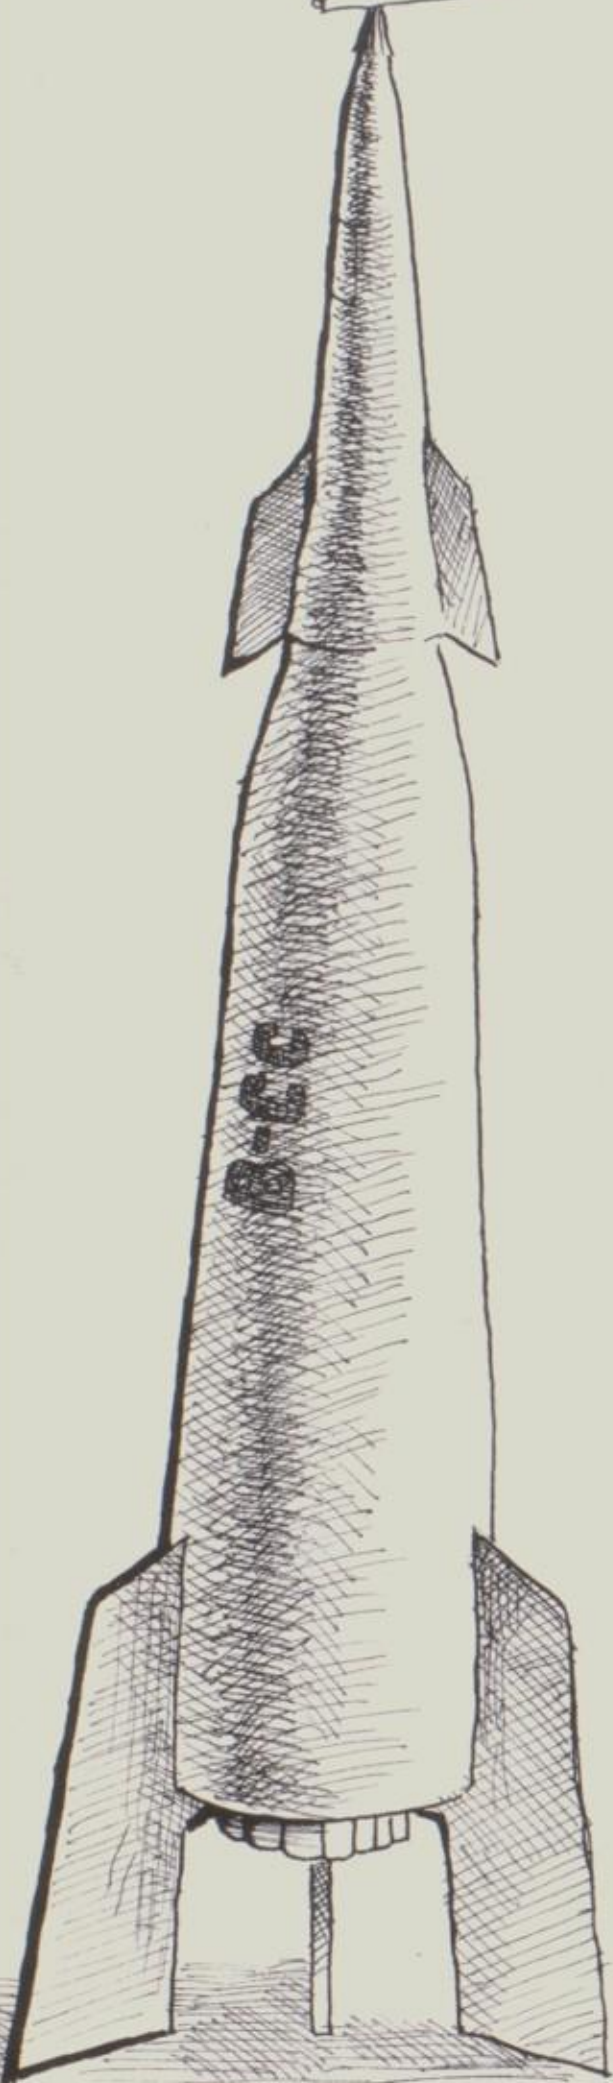

The bird's eye view we'll treasure longest, our high school, was supplied by Photogrammetry.

STANDARDS SET

Being a teacher in today's world takes courage and vision. Confronted by blank looks and vacant stares, the teachers work hard to add to their pupils' store of knowledge. Demanding superiority and denouncing mediocrity, the teachers plan assignments and evaluate the learning accomplished in 1959-60.

Serving well in their capacity, the teachers give hours before and after school for extra explanation, make-up tests, and club meetings. Their timely aid has cleared cloudy thinking and raised the students' level of achievement.

Three Able Staffs

Counseling Staff

As our high school days flash by, we often take for granted the careful planning behind our smooth-running schedules. The counselors spend many hours co-ordinating our needs and interests to make our high school life enjoyable and beneficial. They do this in spite of the continual stream of students who file through the counseling offices with an orgy of complaints and demands which would have been handled automatically had they waited.

Mr. Norris sets up the college conferences and assists the counselors. Counselors are assigned to each grade and move up each year until "their class" graduates. After three years they know each student's test scores, report card grades, extra-curricular participation, and ambitions. For everyone the year gathers momentum from September strangeness to February frustration.

Spring brings with it College Boards, Merit Scholarship Competition, and jittery Seniors waiting for the word from the college of their choice. Suddenly June is here. We're breathless! So are the counselors. For while the Seniors wave their fond farewells, they are busily preparing to greet a new crop of Sophomores.

Rocket Fuel

Secretarial Staff

Hub of all activity at B-CC is the main office in the administration building. Here the secretaries move at a breathtaking pace as they attend to the multitude of jobs which are vital to the operation of the school. Not only are they the keepers of personal data forms but also dispatchers of mail, switchboard operators, mimeograph operators, and smiling faces which greet visitors and direct lost students.

The office helpers gain valuable experience as they work under the supervision of the secretaries. And they in turn relieve the work load which falls to the main office. "Yes, please, student speaking," is the polite answer when outside callers and inside extensions request appointments with the counselors or try to secure information for record cards or transcripts.

From dawn till dusk, the office is a hive of busy people. Teachers check in, the mail arrives, the switchboard buzzes, and missing school buses and pupils are checked and located. The last bell finally sounds and the day comes to a close. Files and records are in order, students are accounted for, the switchboard is quiet. The secretaries sign out, happy that at least momentarily, things are quiet.

Administrative Staff

Under the watchful eye of our administrators, we grow in wisdom and stature. From unsure Sophomore days to our challenging Senior year we look to these leaders for counsel and consent.

After ten years, a new administrator occupies the principal's chair. Mr. Tarallo has come to us from a neighboring school and has given friendly support to the teams, clubs, and school-wide projects.

Mr. Zimmerman's voice is heard over the P.A. system calling for teachers' registers or announcing electrical work on the fire alarm system. All building use and maintenance goes through his office and he makes special note to inform the students that their parking privileges do not extend to the school grounds or to the lot of the new apartment next door.

Miss Young administers special tests to student groups or individuals and supervises the counseling department. She works with the P.T.A. Executive Committee and sees that registration and schedule procedures are smooth-running.

A missing student or an impromptu fire drill is reported to Mr. Killen and by use of his aqua summons sheets he retrieves the student or calms the pandemonium which results from the unscheduled fire alarm. He patiently awaits late students and rewards those who have gone AWOL with a U7.

A frequent visitor at B-CC is Miss Greaney. Acting as the link between our school and Rockville, she helps check our progress and our plans for the future.

Reading, Writing, And Speech

English is a many splendored thing. We master one facet or at least feel very comfortable about it only to discover something new. Sophomore year we review parts of speech, capitalization, spelling, punctuation — in short, everything we've had before. We feel rather superior to this "old stuff" and welcome the first writing assignment to show what we can do. We float around on a cloud of glittering generalities until brought down to earth with a hard thud. A low grade on the English theme makes us realize how poor our powers of expression are. We pay closer attention to the grammatical niceties and try to develop more logical thought processes. But what a struggle this is! We hope for high scores on College Boards.

Adequate shelving is always a problem, but Kaye Kittle strives hard to keep the dictionaries together.

Students often help run the ditto machine. Mr. Dalla Santa lines up a ditto to be run off.

Rapid Learner English classes study literary examples not in the regular textbook. An oral reading and lively discussion frequently lead to a paper on some phase of the day's work.

We Learn To Express Well

We study literature according to type in the tenth grade. From the metrical romance Lady of the Lake to Owen Wister's The Virginian was quite a jump. In the eleventh grade we survey American literature; in the twelfth grade we survey English literature. But whether we're studying Silas Marner, Emerson's essays, or Hamlet, we are still aiming toward clearer exposition. English electives are available and we sign up for Public Speaking, Dramatics, or Journalism.

Our efforts reap rewards! Our grades improve! English carries over into other subjects. We are better able to master a foreign language and can write scientific definitions or report on trends in history with new clarity. We begin to appreciate good writing and discover the joys of reading great literature. We're the library's most frequent patrons, but most important, we learn how to explore our own thinking and how to convey to others our thoughts and opinions.

Shorthand And Typing Win

Business students live in a world of typewriters, ledgers, and shorthand notebooks. Looking forward to business school or a job, they work hard to master the skills which will soon be providing them with a regular pay check.

Combined with this book learning is practical experience. Senior year gives the students the opportunity to participate in the program of Distributive Education. Under the supervision of local merchants, students assume jobs, are salaried, and practice the trade.

The big thing this year is Personal Shorthand. Offered to College Preparatory Seniors, this course promises rapid college note taking and a good summer job. With a knowledge of shorthand and typing, the college student can complete his work faster and more efficiently.

With wage earning days in the near future, the business student applies himself, hoping to attain a good position. His graduation is a giant step and he looks to the time when he will join the ranks of taxpaying and stock buying citizens.

Typewriters in need of repair are placed on a special table in the typing room with a note.

Mr. Taylor brings history close to us with a map and a reference book during class discussion.

We avail ourselves of the classroom library and the paperbacks.

As rockets and jets soar above us our thoughts fly to the future. Whether discussing the crisis in Algiers, the importance of coffee in Brazil, or the Constitution, an excursion downtown emphasizes the importance of our study. A visit to a session of Congress or a trip to an embassy stimulates our imagination. We view the wide course offerings in Social Studies with fresh enthusiasm and work hard for the "B" average which is necessary for more specialized study in our senior year. We avail ourselves of the classroom library and the paperbacks.

Diplomats and foreign exchange students add much to our lively discussions of world affairs. Outside authorities generously give their time to help us understand the conflicts which we study. Term projects provide us with the opportunity to explore some interesting phase of our course. And as we delve more deeply into the offerings in the field of Social Studies we see how directly the past has affected our lives and how dependent the future will be on the actions and thinking of our generation.

Student reports enrich our history background and understanding.

MR. PAUL H. MAGEE, JR. — U. S. History, Far Eastern Affairs; Co-sponsor, Sophomore Class. MISS HELEN F. SKOPIC — World History; Rifle Club. MR. H. NORMAN TAYLOR — U. S. History, Senior World History; National Honor Society. MR. LESLIE C. YOUNG — Sociology, Senior Problems; Tri-tilt.

We Build Our Own Rocket

What's your pleasure? Is it dissection, analysis, or computation? Take your choice and launch into science. It's required and it's also a source of much practical knowledge.

Plants and animals are classified, physical and chemical changes are observed, laws and principles are digested and memorized. This learning is applied to everyday life. Problems are resolved by the scientific method.

As March draws near, attention is focused on projects. Competition is strong and the best displays are chosen for the Science Fair. Judges spend four or five hours choosing the prizewinners.

Mr. Edwards displays a chemical to the class during a lecture.

Jack Bell and Cindy Carmichael are perplexed by chemistry problems.

Butch Helsing observes a biological specimen and records data.

And Race To New Horizons

A few outstanding pieces are given county recognition.

The year goes on and the work gets harder. We study, we soar, and then topple as new phases are introduced. Our successes and failures show signs of growth. Class becomes less routine and more interesting. New worlds are conquered and mental barriers are broken down.

Laboratory sessions introduce us to Bunsen Burners, beakers, Erlinmyer Flasks, and deflaggerating spoons. We test theories which we have studied in class. We mix chemicals and set off a series of sparks and turn solutions into a variety of hues. Formaldehyde preserves the specimens which we take apart in class.

Our progress is evaluated every six weeks. Our report cards show us where we stand and we struggle for the science credits necessary for graduation.

A few students are challenged and plan careers in science. Others seem pleased with the fact that they can now read articles on the space age with understanding and appreciate the advances made by dedicated scientists.

From Graphs To Theorems

Numbers and more numbers whirl in our heads. Graphs, functions, equations, and formulas join with laws, theories, corollaries, and postulates to make math a vigorous mental exercise. Clear, orderly thinking is necessary for understanding when dealing in both the abstract and the specific.

Compasses, protractor, and slide rules appear on the scene as students attempt to prove congruency or equality. Such instruments also aid in the search for a correct answer or a missing X factor.

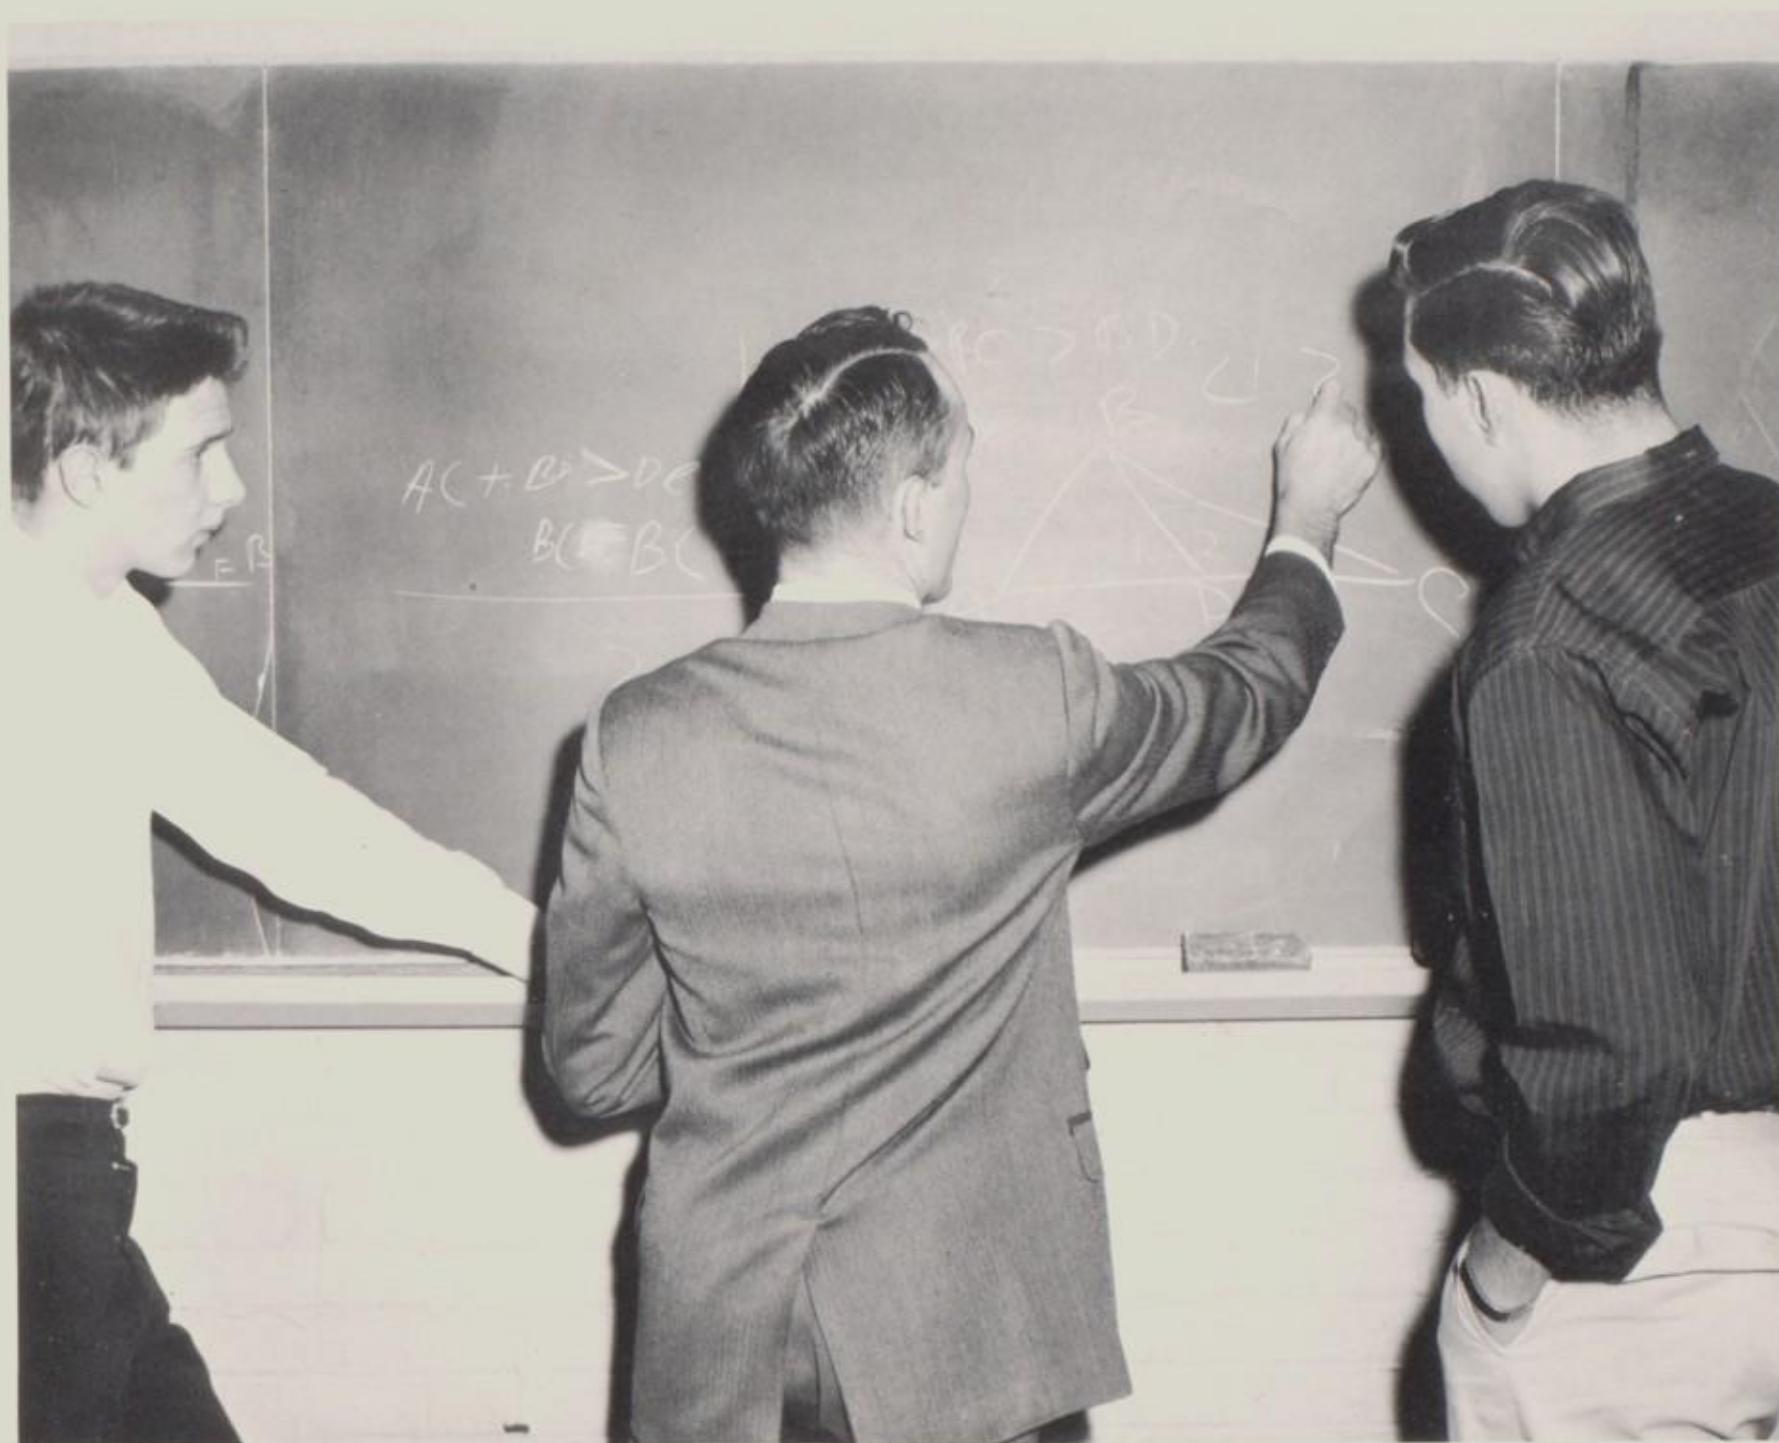

Posters and displays show the many uses of math. From engineering to homemaking, measures and numbers are constantly required, and this is emphasized by the Math Bulletin Board on the fourth floor of the Administration Building.

When the situation seems under control, exponents and decimals are thrown in to complicate the picture and the struggle continues. Homework assignments review the new principles which have been introduced in class. Overheard conversations about last night's answers often leave outsiders wondering. Such terms as mantissa, characteristic, and co-function are confusing to those who are not engrossed in our world of math, but they're necessary to compete in today's world.

When working problems the necessary exacting computation helps in the development of careful habits of thought. And as students learn to weigh and consider all the factors they are well on their way to well-balanced, symmetrical lives.

Mathematics Classes Excelling

MR. COLIN GANSERT STEELE, JR. — Physics, Plane Geometry; Coach, Wrestling Team. MRS. PATRICIA H. TUBBS — Algebra 1, Algebra 2; Debate Club, Senior Activities. MR. DONALD A. WILLIAMSON — Plane Geometry; Bridge Club, Senior Card Committee. MR. JOHN WOOLFORD — Trigonometry, Solid Geometry; Photography Club, Math Curriculum Committee.

MISS CLARA LEE HYATT — Spanish, French; Spanish Club, Library.

MISS LEONORA AIKEN — French, Latin; Chairman, Personnel Committee, Senior Photographs. MRS. ELEANOR BINGHAM — German, French; Deutscher Verein. MR. JAMES B. DOWNTON — Latin 2, Latin 3, Latin 4; Key Club, Classics Club, Honor Society Council, Faculty Representative for Career Recognition Program. MRS. JESSICA W. GOLDIN — Spanish.

Thru Learning Of Languages

The halls of B-CC are filled with many strange sounds as we leave our language classes. An odd combination of clauses and phrases is heard as we strive toward fluent speech in French, Spanish, or German.

All a part of the new emphasis being placed on foreign language, classrooms are being built into language laboratories and it is becoming standard procedure to learn through earphones and oral practice rather than textbooks.

An oral examination really puts us to the test.

Getting the tongue in the right position is important if the student wants the correct pronunciation. Mrs. Goldin demonstrates a Spanish sound and then has the class practice orally.

Mrs. Jenkins corrects pronunciation in oral reading in one of her Spanish classes.

We Visit Gay Foreign Lands

A background in Latin is still an asset as we struggle toward understanding in not only a second language but also our own. How grateful we are when the knowledge of a Latin word origin clarifies a difficult passage in literature! How much easier grammar seems when we are well acquainted with Latin rules!

We rush up to the foreign students and try out our newly acquired skills. We strive toward perfection in grammar and diction. Gradually we see how our knowledge of foreign language gives us deeper insight into the problems of other nationalities and helps us strive more objectively toward harmonious international relations. We daydream of trips abroad.

Diana Bingham admires the bulletin board display in Miss Sullivan's room and then points out the street where she lived in Paris.

MRS. JUANITA JENKINS — Spanish. MR. JAMES McARTHUR — French 1, French 2; Senior Activities, Pigskin Prom. MISS MARIAN F. McNAMARA — Latin; Co-sponsor, Classics Club. MISS MARY W. SULLIVAN — French; French Club.

MR. ALBERT W. BENDER—Art Metal; Varsity Admissions, Personnel Committee, Chairman.

MR. FLORIS DAVISSON — Distributive Education, Business Arithmetic; Varsity Basketball, Athletic Admissions. MR. KEITH I. MILLER — Woodworking; Stage Crew and Maintenance Club. MR. E. J. PRIOVOLOS — Mechanical Drawing, Architectural Drawing; Varsity Admissions, Honor Society Council. MR. DONALD WILD — Mechanical Drawing I; Social Committee.

Future Painters And Bakers

"Art is struggle with the struggle erased." Such is the creed of the fine arts classes as they strive for original expression in singing, drawing, or designing.

How well the music student realizes the hard work necessary for floating tone and the art student the application required to turn clay, paints, and other media into a realistic concept! Attractive display cases and inspiring concerts are the result of these efforts.

Careful attention is given to details. Close adherence to instructions produces perfect pies and attractive book ends and these students realize that they're on the right track. The oven, sewing machine, and power tool are treated with new reverence.

Metal Shop displayed its handiwork in one of the display cases and the Graphic Arts Classes were new this year.

Student painting was exhibited in the school display cases during February.

A new course offering, Graphic Arts, and a new machine caused the boys to stand in admiration. Everybody in school received a book mark printed on this machine.

MR. FRED FITANIDES — Physical Education; Assistant, Junior Varsity Football.
MR. LEROY C. JONES — Physical Education; Varsity Baseball, Junior Varsity Basketball, Junior Varsity Football.

MISS JOSIE KEETER — Girls' Physical Education; G.A.A. Intramurals, Library Committee, Honor Society Council, Chairman.

Fitness In Physical Education

"What is Physical Education?" Before the boy gets his question out, he's on a team, learning the rules, getting exercise, and enjoying himself. From experience in the classroom, he may elect to go out for one of the varsity sports. Soccer and wrestling are new varsities this year. Football, basketball, track, baseball, golf, and tennis are old standbys.

Getting dressed for gym, roll call, and gang showers are all a part of an hour in the gym. So is Driver Training instruction.

We've had fun, learned new skills, increased our understanding of athletics, and most important we now realize that team work and good sportsmanship are a vital part of any competition.

With a new varsity sport, wrestling, boys' Physical Education classes worked overtime practicing the holds.

A student spotter stands by as Shirley Barnes vaults over the vaulting box.

Mr. Carney and Mr. Dolezal instruct from outside the car in early driver training instruction.

Toward Better Driving Skills

A lively game of volley ball or a quick forward roll revive us as we take time from our studies to participate in gym class. Physical Education provides a welcome break in our busy schedules and offers a wide variety of sports which keep us constantly on the go.

If class participation leaves us asking for more, we can sign up for the after school sports' program. Although they have no varsity sports, girls boast of honor teams and cups won.

A swing of the golf club or a hockey stick and we're off on a whirl of outdoor sports which fill the autumn months. Winter finds us inside the gym perfecting tumbling skills, playing volleyball, or shooting for a basket in a close game of basketball. As warmer weather sets in, some students journey to Bethesda for pointers in bowling.

"Batter up" is the call as softball winds up an enjoyable year of gym.

School Services

Supporting Services is the official title for the more comfortable aspects of being in school. Equipment is moved, heat is regulated, and Mr. Howard smiles pleasantly as he sees that the two-bell call is answered. Lunch is supplied in cafeteria style and Mrs. Patterson has added pizzas and hoagies to the menu as well as calorie tempting pies.

The Health Office checks the hearing and vision of every student, keeps the records up-to-date, and checks to see that all teachers have TB check-ups.

Before and after school we drape our coats on the nearest chair and wade in on the proper references.

Book Wisdom

"Meet you in the library" has become a glad cry, for the library is now housed in its own building, not in the basement. With conference rooms and adequate work space, with attractively displayed books and special lighting, the library has a special appeal. Opening by 8:00 each morning and remaining open until 4:30, the library provides a real opportunity for the Bethesda student. Faculty meetings are held here, for it is the only place all faculty members can be seated and have space to write.

"Do students really use the library?" someone asked. They do!

MRS. BETTINA McKINNEL — Library Practice; Library Club, Library Committee. MISS LOUISE M. OWEN — Library; Library Committee.

A student assistant helps at the check-out desk, which frees Mrs. McKinnell to give individual help.

MRS. SANDRA WILSON, history; MR. JULIAN WEINGARTEN, Graphic Arts; MR. JOHN NELSON, chemistry; were not pictured formally with their departments.

Faculty Behind The Scenes

Eighty-two classroom teachers and twenty additional staff members keep us on our toes. Senior Days give us a chance to appreciate what the regular teachers do. Faculty meetings, In-Service Days, and parent conferences are a regular part of their year.

Correcting papers, recording grades, keeping attendance, preparing master grade sheets are all a part of their day. Occasionally they manage a cup of coffee in the Lounge. They act as advisers to our extra-curricular activities and serve as chaperones at our plays and dances.

They also write letters of recommendation and follow our college careers with interest. Sometimes we meet them on college campuses taking courses.

Putting grades on the report cards of absentees brought every teacher to the Lounge.

Faculty meetings were scheduled for the library or one of the music rooms. Monday was meeting day.

Students

OUR COUNTDOWN

Students are in a vacuum surrounded by pressure from ambitious parents and teachers, counselors, and colleges. Their own desires, add to the drive to the panic-button. These forces have similar requests; grades which reflect understanding, activities which show versatility, and citizenship which demonstrates responsibility.

Aiming for these good qualities, students spend long hours studying, attending extra rehearsals, and participating in club projects.

Such a busy schedule requires careful planning and intelligent use of every moment. A careful time budget means a successful school year and adjustment in college or career.

We Are Seniors

4-3-2-the countdown continues and the whirl is on! We're Seniors and we're proud of it! The thrill carries us through the countless tasks which fall to us. College applications, college board exams, term papers and science projects are only a few of the responsibilities which fill our precious hours.

We're 584 strong and a high degree of organization is necessary in order to assure everyone an opportunity to serve on the committees responsible for the Pigskin Prom, Senior Days, Class Night, Senior Prom, Baccalaureate, and Graduation. Eleven executive committee members meet daily with Miss Cooke to guide the activities of our class, the grads of 1960!

Our social life is a busy one. We cheer the teams in victory or defeat; we flock to plays and concerts; we scintillate at dances. We live it up!

June arrives in a bustle of last minute rehearsals and deadlines. We're breathless! Then, diploma in hand, we are ready to face the many challenges confronting us beyond our high school world.

We blast off into our outer space!

Student employees, in Work Experience Program, honored their employees at their annual banquet held at Brooke Manor Country Club.

Banquet For D.E. Students

The Cooperative Work Experience Education Program permits high school students to receive classroom instruction for one-half day and on-the-job training for the other half. B-CC is one of the four county high schools participating in the program which is under the direction of William C. Feddeman, Supervisor of Industrial and Adult Education.

Approximately twenty-five B-CC students under the direction of Mr. Floris Davisson are now enrolled in the program. They attended the DE Banquet on March 23 when 300 students and their guests heard Mr. James H. Pearson, Assistant Commissioner for Vocational Education, speak on "Education and Business — Our Mutual Concern."

Ken Sullivan, under the supervision of Mr. William Disney, shop foreman, prepares a car for painting at Chevy Chase Chevrolet.

Mr. James Stone, manager at Gifford's, checks two ice cream sodas Judy Sellers has prepared.

Virginia Ogden receives the next typing job from Mr. Claude Jenkins, business manager at Grady Motors Corporation.

We Work And Plan Ahead

7-6-5-We gain altitude, we're elevated, we're the Juniors! Enthusiastically assuming the role of upperclassmen, we take a more active part in school affairs. We boast officers in S.G.A. and plan the Junior-Senior.

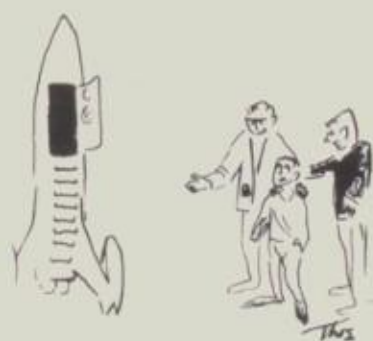

College suddenly looms into the horizon. We attend noon-hour conferences, send away for catalogs, and strive for the 60% "A's" and "B's" necessary for recommendation. We practice taking college boards and compete to be Merit Scholars.

Driver Education Classes are crowded as we realize the privileges that come with our sixteenth birthday. Road signs are learned, rules are memorized, and safe driving is polished. Then to Kensington we go to try for a Driver's License.

The study of American Literature and U.S. History spotlight our native land. Co-ordinating the two subjects, we get a broad view of our rich heritage.

As our Senior year draws closer, we impatiently look ahead to the time when we'll be the leaders and have scores of followers below us. No longer do we feel like the middle men. Responsibility is a challenge and our happiness mounts as we rise in the world. Next year we'll be boasting of our acceptance by the college of our choice.

10-9-8 — We enter the launching area; we're the ground crew; we're the Sophomores! This new world of breezeways, students, and bake sales challenges us; and what we lack in experience, we make up for in enthusiasm.

The scorching glances of the upperclassmen don't even phase us. At the moment we're concerned with quantity and not quality. As the largest class we outdo our superiors in school drives. Our huge volume of school spirit leaves little doubt as to where our loyalties lie.

Julius Caesar, The Virginian, Lady of the Lake, and Ivanhoe acquaint us with the various types of literature. We are faced with the problem of a biology project and taxed by the complexities of second year algebra.

We are proud to set precedents and for the first time in years elect a girl president and sponsor a successful Leap Year Lark. Our treasury balance is unusually large, and we plan for the future. Secretly, we admire the upperclassmen and look forward to the time when we can shake off our present rank and become "Juniors," eleventh graders.

Sophomores advertised their dance on every blackboard.

Student Comment, a taped program sponsored by SGA, featured Miriam Lev-ering, Mary Dahl, Florence Kundahl, and Claudia Fangboner who prepared their own script for the 8:55 P. A. Program.

Arrival of class rings caused the sophomores to admire the nearest one at hand.

SATELLITES ORBIT

Rain or shine, in victory or defeat, crowds turned out to see the Barons in action. High-stepping majorettes, vivacious cheerleaders, and tireless band members cheered on, whipping up school spirit and urging the teams to success. A good contest was always appreciated.

Amidst the fever and excitement of game time the sportsmanship of the students as observers and participants was undergoing a test. A match fairly fought and a courteous audience were often a better measure of the school than the final score.

Barons Waited For Kickoff

B-CC's football team, hampered by injuries throughout the season, got off to a slow start and was never able to approach the stardom of last year's squad. Nevertheless, Mr. Al Sadusky's excellent job of coaching and the many fine individual performances made the overall picture a worthwhile one.

The starting line was made up of center Bob LaFond; guards Don Kreuger and Pete Countryman; tackles Bud Whittaker and Charles Bradford; and ends John Cobb and J.R. Williams. Quarterback Tom Arata was assisted by halfbacks Elwin Condon and Bob Guthrie and fullback Charles Sither.

Wheaton shocked the home team in the season's opener with the passing of Bill Coggins to win 10-0. This was the Baron's first loss in their last 11 games and the first time they had been shutout in over two years. Kreuger and Countryman led a strong defense while Arata, Guthrie, and Joe Albert stood out on offense.

From one extreme to the other, Bethesda subjugated Oxon Hill to a 27-0 defeat. Everything seemed to click as the Barons scored four touchdowns to coast to their easiest victory of the season. The fans were ready to cheer forever and looked forward to the next win.

Woody Ey, J. R. Williams, and Dick Slye reflect the game's progress in their expressions.

With High Hopes

Substitute quarterback Carl Middledorf scored two touchdowns; Sither and Condon had one each. Tackle Whittaker played such an inspired game that he was voted "Athlete of the Week" by The Daily News.

B-CC could not hold back High Point's powerful fullback Russ Childress who accounted for the game's only touchdown on October 2. Bethesda's longest gain came on a 45 yard run by back Butch Helsing. Kreuger again led the defensive wall.

We evened our record at 2-2 as Northwestern bowed out 6-0. Craig Lingenfelter's pass to Elwin Condon provided the winning margin. Whittaker and Bill Birgfeld led a staunch Baron defense.

Suitland's Bill Jett led his team to a stunning 19-0 victory on October 17. Joe Albert intercepted a pass and ran 50 yards to the Ram's 25, but the team couldn't advance any further.

We again had an equal won-lost record after knocking off Northwood 14-7. Quarterback Carl Middledorf did a good job of piloting the Barons during most of the game. Arata, Sither, and Middledorf spearheaded a strong running and passing attack that produced the two touchdowns, while Birgfeld sparked the defensive lineman.

The team was in "its finest hour" against Bladensburg. With little or no home support they caught fire in the second half to pull a spectacular 12-7 upset. Touchdowns came on short runs by Arata and Sither. Cobb and Kreuger helped discourage Mustang scoring.

The Record

|      |    |              |    |
|------|----|--------------|----|
| B-CC | 12 | Bladensburg  | 7  |
| B-CC | 0  | Wheaton      | 10 |
| B-CC | 27 | Oxon Hill    | 0  |
| B-CC | 0  | High Point   | 6  |
| B-CC | 6  | Northwestern | 0  |
| B-CC | 0  | Suitland     | 19 |
| B-CC | 14 | Northwood    | 7  |
| B-CC | 0  | RMHS         | 25 |
| B-CC | 0  | WJ           | 13 |
| B-CC | 0  | Blair        | 13 |

Raindrops may fall but the team still has a game to win. They shut out Northwestern 6-0.

Charlie Bradford perfects his blocking under Coach Carney's watchful eye.

Bob Guthrie clenches his fist in determination as he attempts to barrel through the Oxon Hill line.

Get That Ball!

The Rockets of Richard Montgomery, who went on to be the area's only undefeated team, made short work of the local squad, 25-0. After being held scoreless in the first half, Rockville rallied for four touchdowns, most coming on long runs. Sither and Lineman Lee Amick put in outstanding performances for the Bethesda cause, but without Tom Arata, who was out with injuries, the team didn't get far offensively.

Old nemesis Walter Johnson High executed another of its infamous upsets 13-0 on November 14. Spartan backs John Murdock and Howard Thompson raced past a slow Baron secondary for the tallies.

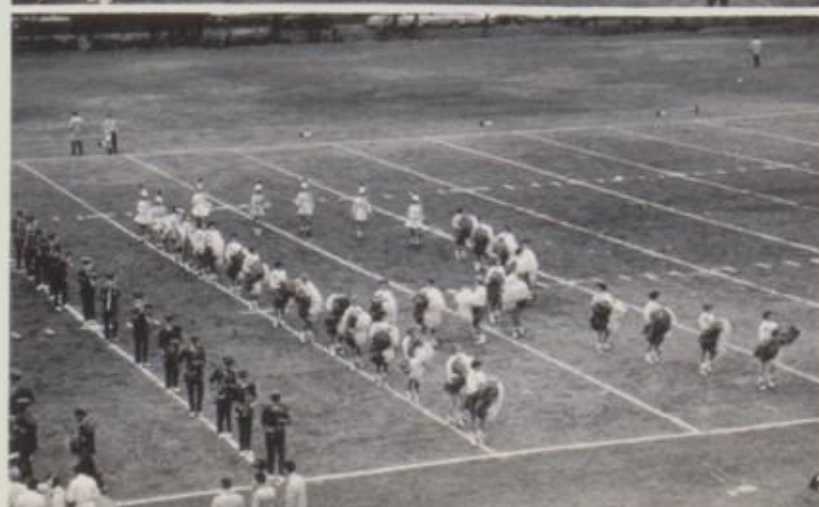

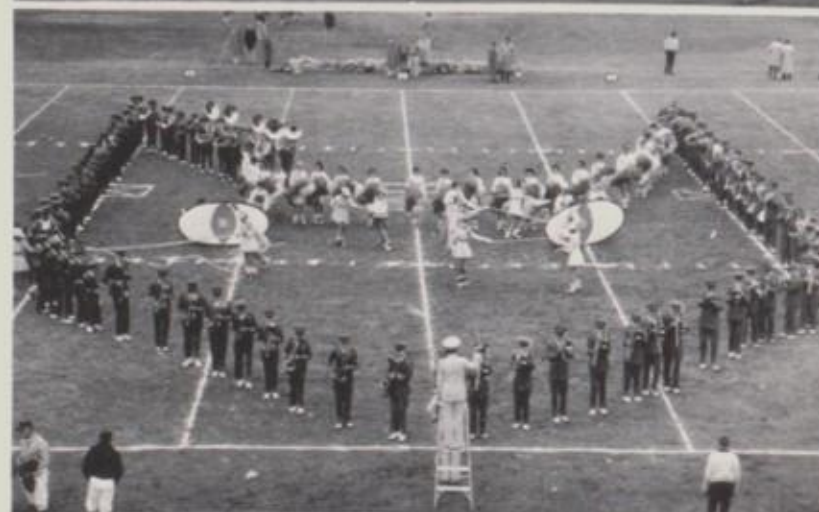

Although the local players performed admirably it was not enough to inhibit a powerful Blair team. The Blazers were held in check during the first two periods, but finally regained their stride to triumph 13-0. Fine jobs were done by Kreuger and Sither on offense and Whittaker, Butch Helsing, and Louis Rosen on defense.

Many of our football games were enhanced by the original skits put on during halftime. "Coffee and Confusion" was the title of B-CC's presentation at the Blair game. The band, pom pon team, majorettes, and flag twirlers co-operated to produce an interesting and memorable show.

A High Point player is brought to rest by a B-CC tackler as Pete Countryman, John Cobb, and Bud Whittaker close in.

The half-time show featured a Spanish version of Mr. Baron, the Pom Pons, and the Band.

We Rival Montgomery Blair

The entire Blair team converges on co-captains Kreuger and Whittaker to shake hands before the opening whistle.

Coach Sadusky gives fullback Charlie Sith-er a briefing before returning him to the game.

A Baron tackler makes a futile attempt to stop a hard hitting Blair fullback.

Blair's line charges in to surround ball carrier Steve Evans.

Dick Slye is poised in hot pursuit of a Blazer ball carrier.

This Season's Undefeated JV

Bethesda hit the jackpot with this year's Little Barons who concluded a highly successful season with an 8-0-1 mark. Under the able direction of Coaches Leroy Jones and Fred Fitanides the JV could do no wrong after an opening tie with Wheaton.

Wakefield's invading Indians were turned back 12-2 September 24. Field General Tom Kelly and fullback Jim Scott scored the two touchdowns.

B-CC demolished High Point on two long runs by Scott and a pass from tailback Ed McDuffie. Bethesda piled up its highest point total, 26, to shut out Gaithersburg, October 15. Safety Bill Jenkins scored on an intercepted pass and back Joe Hunt went into the end zone on a short run.

Able team play defeated Northwood 19-0 and Kelley accounted for three touchdowns.

Unbeaten Wilson proved no match for the rampaging Blue and Gold who took an easy 26-7 victory. Back Tim Booker ran the opening kickoff 95 yards for the first tally, and halfback Kevin Healy followed suit with another long run.

Bi-County rival Walter Johnson could not overcome the hustling Little Barons who triumphed 7-0 after a line plunge by Kelly.

A victory over Blair usually puts the finishing touches on a fine season and this was the case for the JV who edged out a 12-9 win. The scorers were Kelly and Booker.

A sturdy Baron line was spearheaded by Bud Rinaudot, Harry Wheeler, Joel Arnold, Doug McNair, and Jim Audley.

The Cheerleaders, backed by a Bethesda Matador, distribute spirit at the Blair game.

1959 CROSS COUNTRY TEAM — Bottom Row: Larson, White, Knutson, Petersen, Gottlieb, Williams, Carter, Millard, Franks. Second Row: Mason, Seybold, Rikon, Frechtling, Chapin, Von-

Drehle, Salladay, Bortz, Sommers, McNeil, Coach Davis. Third Row: Baboyian, Atkins, Copeland, Curtis, Trafton, Murphy, Weissbrodt, Garvin, Zirkle.

New Varsities Rate Respect

Soccer came into its own this year as a varsity sport at B-CC. Under the helm of history teacher, Walter Barbash, the team practiced through most of a chilly winter, drawing complaints from the players who had lived in the tropical South American countries.

Nevertheless, the team rebounded from an early setback to produce a 5-2-2 record. A 2-2 tie with Blair was a big triumph for the Barons who had lost 3 previous matches to the Red and White.

Coach Jim Davis has good reason to feel proud of the fine effort displayed by his Cross Country Team. From its "humble" beginnings last year, the squad was thoroughly revamped. Two early setbacks to Blair and St. John's failed to hamper their drive for success.

The harriers bounced back to conquer high places in the Wakefield Invitational and the Maryland State Meet. Soon after, Frederick and Wilson bowed out. The team ended by tying previously undefeated St. Alban's.

Our Start Bad--Finish Good

The 1959-1960 basketball team more than emulated the prowess exhibited by last year's Maryland State Champions.

Paced by their "Big Three", Brad Brooks, Mike Braddock, and Dave Young, the Barons dominated the tougher teams in the Montgomery County League. Although they sometimes let up their guard against the non-conference and the weaker Bi-County schools they finished the regular season with flying blue and gold colors trouncing Richard Montgomery and carving a bid to the State Playoffs.

Coach Floris Davisson often substituted freely and devised new strategems in an attempt to develop the strongest team possible. Harry Smith, Paul Ricker, Don Kreuger, and Don Hoage alternated at the remaining 2 starting positions.

Bethesda had little trouble disposing of Gaithersburg in the season's opener December 18. Young, Smith, Brooks, and Braddock accounted for 58 of the 67 points.

Wheaton provided a much stiffer challenge as B-CC had to hustle for a 57-56 victory as Brooks, Hoage, and Young led the scoring. Mike Kirkpatrick, Suitland's BMOC, paced his team to a fine showing that forewarned of a tough time ahead when the teams would meet again.

Northwood's high scoring center, Kirk Stewart, played a fine game but could not hold up the rest of the team who lost 73-55 December 18. Coach Jim Davis's alumni, sporting such greats as Butch Mac Cartee, Fred Rolle, Bob Windsor, and Carl Apstein, fell before an inspired varsity 68-52.

The Christmas holidays acted as a deterrent to the cagemen as they were able to win only 3 of their first 7 games after returning to school. Oxon Hill was no problem as Kreuger and Young tallied 15 points each for a 75-40 victory.

Close Scores

Old nemesis Walter Johnson handed Bethesda its first loss by a 58-57 score January 8. Substitute Brian McLaughlin sparked a late scoring surge that overwhelmed the home squad. Young and Brooks led the scoring. Baron rooters were still in a state of shock the next morning while College Boards were given.

The Barons added an easy triumph over Georgetown Prep and started to regain their winning streak by blasting Blair 76-57. B-CC could do no wrong as Brooks, Young and Braddock totaled 64 points.

The giants of Bladensburg thundered in to waylay Bethesda January 19. All-Metropolitan selection Jay Buckley held up the Blades who had not forgotten last year's humiliating defeat. Our lowest ebb came when Richard Montgomery's Rockets invaded and returned home boasting of a 51-50 win. B-CC sorely missed Dave Young who had been absent all week, but Brooks stood out with 26 big points.

Gonzaga's Eagles exploded in the second half to ensnare a 66-60 triumph. After the short trip to oblivion the Blue and Gold appeared to have been injected with some magical serum and rallied to win 7 of the next 9 encounters.

Probably their most exciting fury was a 70-62 come-from-behind victory over a determined Wheaton five. Brooks splurged with 33 points, a career's high point and just one point shy of the school record.

The reactions of the spectators anticipating a B-CC player's ability to sink that tie-breaking basket were varied.

We Made The State Finals

Their next win came over an improved Northwood team. Bethesda, realizing they needed the win for a chance at the District Crown, quickly subjugated their neighbors, 59-55.

Cellar dweller Oxon Hill, was easily disposed of as all B-town held its breath at the Walter Johnson game. This time Bethesda finished in true form by utterly demolishing the Spartans 75-40. Braddock, Young, and Brooks all contributed greatly to the victory.

Landon produced one of the few blemishes on the Baron's late season record. The men from Wilson Lane were too potent for the locals as they won out 53-49 on February 16.

The Barons all but clinched their first County Title by squeaking by Blair 39-38. Actually Bethesda kept a small lead throughout the game and were only threatened at the very end. Co-captains Young and Brooks led the scoring.

Bladensburg again humbled the Barons, but the final game of the season against Richard Montgomery shaped up as a "do or die" affair. If Bethesda lost and Northwood beat Blair, the title and play off bid would go to the Indians.

But Bethesda bounced back to capture the glory and round out a successful season by knocking off Rockville, February 26.

The teams go through vigorous drills in preparation for the evening's onslaught.

Another Trophy Next Year?

Coach Leroy Jones followed his fine year in football with a fruitful J.V. basketball season. With an overall record of 11-6, the Little Barons gained a high position in the Bi-County League.

Ed McDuffie, Denny Braddock, and Mike Ernst paced Bethesda with 12.8, 12, and 6.3 point averages respectively. McDuffie set a season's high with 34 points in the Northwood game last December. Other starters, Cliff Needham and Ron Cameron and substitutes Tim Booker and Fred Hall also performed well.

After an early victory over Northwood the J.V. went on to waylay most local competition with the exception of rivals Blair and Walter Johnson.

They finished by subjugating a strong Rockville five which was led by former football star Watson Praither.

Grapplers Gain

This year wrestling was introduced at B-CC as a varsity sport. In November, eighty-eight boys ranging in weight from 90 to 230 pounds answered the first call to compete for first string positions in the following weight classes: 95, 103, 112, 120, 133, 138, 145, 154, 165, 175, and unlimited weight classes. Since there was no one on the squad with previous experience, each boy had to start from scratch in the ancient art of mastering such basic holds as the arm-switch, and the wrist roll in addition to more intricate ones like the guillotine and the keylock. The opening match of the season against Gaithersburg was fiercely contested with the Barons losing a heart breaker to their more experienced up-county rival, 26-25. Thereafter followed losses to Wakefield 25-24, Blair 27-21, Wheaton 26-15, and Northwood 41-3. The Baron grapplers finally came into their own for the final two matches of the season with impressive victories over High Point 28-19, and St. Stephens, 39-5. In dual competition three boys had winning records; Glenn Watts, 5-1, Parker Smith, 2-0, and Joe Albert, 4-1-1. In the Washington Metropolitan Tournament the team placed tenth out of 15 schools with Glenn Watts winning the 95 pound class championship and Dick Lee placing fourth in the 138 pound division.

Sluggers Slam Into Season

Baseball reached a new peak of popularity at B-CC after a declining interest in the past two years. With Coach Leroy Jones' inspiration, the team staged a vigorous campaign undaunted by the burden of additional games.

The starting line-up consisted of pitchers Craig Lingenfelter and Carl Middledorf, infielders Tom Arata, Bob Lafond, Elwin Condon, and Lee May and catcher Ed Austin. Backing them up were outfielders George Brandt, Richie Cone, and Art Flemming.

In a game with Wheaton, April 4 the team started off inauspiciously by losing 6-1 in a non-league game. Lingenfelter started and pitched well but poor fielding cost Bethesda the victory.

Tally Of Track Tournaments

After an encouraging seventh place finish in the Evening Star Games, Coach Jim Davis' track team was off to another rewarding season.

The mile relay team was the feather in Mr. Davis' cap as he led them to two early triumphs — a win with a record-breaking time in the Star Games and a second place finish among schools from twenty states at the National A.A.U. meet in New York. Seniors Paul White, Jerry Gimmel, and Bob Guthrie were assisted by newcomer Ed Terrell, a sophomore.

Scores of applicants vied for starting berths as the late winter snow fell. Runners were forced to brave perilous snowdrifts, but they persevered. Spring came and the squad fell to sixty members, mostly underclassmen.

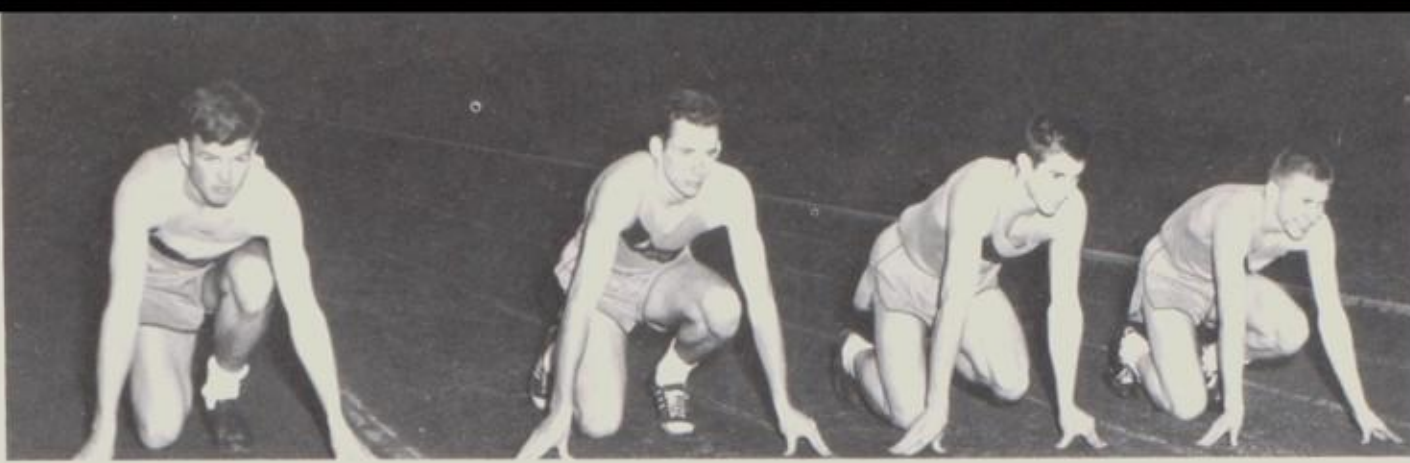

Among the more proficient entrants were Woody Ey, Leland Ferguson, Dick Carter, and Bob Millard. "The team lacks the depth of last year's squad," said Coach Davis, "but still we hope for a fine season."

April Fool's Day was the date of the first encounter — a 3 team meet with Walter Johnson and Wakefield. From there the Barons went on to put the finishing touches on a successful season.

Tee To Green

Bethesda-Chevy Chase, long the proving grounds of talented golfers, saw the blossoming of another group of linksmen this year. 1956 graduate Deane Beman was the first to display the B-CC banner in international prominence by capturing the British Open Championship and a prized position on America's Walker Cup Team.

Since then other Baron linksmen have gained recognition. Last year's squad forged through a remarkably fruitful season defeating such powerhouses as St. Johns, Blair, and Gonzaga; Walter Johnson ended the revelry by overcoming B-CC for the league crown. A series of heavy showers delayed play-offs for the 1960 team long after other spring varsities had been chosen, but with three returning regulars, the '60 golfers looked for added glory under Coach Al Sadusky. Returnees Marty Garber, Dick Gambatese, and Dan Boone were complemented by Kent Kittle, Ben Skinker, Bill Schmidt, Bill Bortz, and Dick Schmidt.

Fast Service, A Good Volley

With the return of four veteran tennis players, prospects got increasingly brighter. The team's performance proved no disappointment as they polished off the majority of competitions.

Frank Goeltz, the area's second ranked netman, practiced diligently throughout most of fall and winter and entered B-CC's tryouts, a seasoned competitor. Other team members Dick Cunningham and J. R. Williams put forth their best efforts in the six singles and three doubles matches that made up each meet.

Bethesda took on Georgetown Prep, Northwood, and Gonzaga for the first time in 1960, while five other teams provided stiff competition. Coach John Woolford helped fashion a cohesive and powerful tennis squad.

Exercising New Apparatus

The Girls' Physical Education Department offers a well-rounded roster of activities planned in such a way as to enable a girl to learn the basic skills of all activities offered and by her senior year to be proficient in a number of sports.

In the autumn months, the girls take advantage of the pleasant weather and venture outdoors to participate in hockey, golf, and archery. Cold weather sets in and the gym is filled with excited yells as winter sports get underway. Tense basketball games are played, and then the mats and apparatus are dragged out and the girls concentrate on tumbling skills. A polished drop on the trampoline or vault over the Swedish box brings a sigh of admiration from the bystanders. A new apparatus, the parallel bars, was introduced this year. For the first time modern dance was offered and appreciated by girls who enjoy doing the choreography for their own dances and taking part in more creative recreation. Bold gymnasts signed for co-ed volleyball and joined in fast moving games in the Boys' Gym. Some of the classes went to Bethesda for bowling and others remained at school for badminton and ping pong. A course in good health was a standard requirement for all classes. Softball and spring fever were rampant as the year drew to a close.

Basket of Fun

Physical education class stimulates interest and many girls desire further opportunity to participate in their favorite activities. The skills learned in the instructional program bring enjoyment to those who participate in the intramural program which is conducted by the Girls Athletic Association. And what a varied program this is! Whatever your interests and abilities you'll get lots of pleasure from the extra-curricular activities. Each intramural sport runs for eight weeks. Anyone who desires may sign up in the Girls' Gym. Several teams are organized and they compete in a series of games. At the end of the sport's duration, tryouts are held and an honor team is selected. This is quite a privilege, for the honor team plays teams from other schools. After the competition is completed, each member of the honor team receives a small cup in recognition of her participation.

Another interesting aspect of the intramural program is the sports day. No special qualifications are necessary for participation. The high schools take turns as host school for an afternoon of varied sports and enjoyable competition.

Several times during the year, field days are held. Local junior highs are invited to send participants, and the leaders of GAA plan a sequence of events which will serve to acquaint the guests with B-CC and its athletic program for girls.

There are many chances to demonstrate leadership in the GAA program. Each sport must have a manager and an assistant manager. For work in GAA the participant receives a number of points. At the end of the year the points are totaled and awards are determined accordingly. These points apply not only to GAA awards but also to the school monogram which requires a certain amount of athletic participation.

In Sports, Too

From nine 'till three the gym really jumps. There are about 145 girls in the gym each period participating in a variety of sports. To relieve the congestion a new auxiliary room has been added and has served to ease the conflicts of interest and provide extra space for everything from lectures to exercises.

A teacher's in the news. In December Mrs. Pelleu was hostess for the National Hockey Tournament. She presided over the activities and introduced Vice-President Nixon who was speaker of the day.

Gym is a required subject. The student must take at least two years, and for each year completed, she receives three-fourths of a credit. Girls are often prompted to choose Physical Education as their major in college and plan to spend a good deal of their lives actively involved in some phase of athletics. But more than a requirement, gym is useful. It provides a break from hectic schedules and keeps us in shape for those marvelous vacations and holidays when we can display our new skills in our favorite sports.

Clubs

MISSILES GUIDED

Whether pursuing vocation or avocation, you'll find a club which catches your fancy and sweeps you into a whirl of interesting projects. Field trips, bake sales, and the annual carnival provide fun, fellowship, and a closer glimpse into one of your interests.

Rivaling in service, competing in music contests and debate tournaments, and seeking publication evaluation, students represent the school in outside events. This contact with other schools develops wide perspective and keeps students striving for higher standards of quality.

Self Rule, Our Achievement

Bang! The gavel's rap calls to order the Executive Committee of the Student Government Association. A governing body composed of ten elected officers and seven appointed committee chairmen, the committee coordinates with the administration and faculty the activities and projects of the students, Representative Assembly, and Cabinet.

Representative Assembly, composed of one person from every homeroom, meets weekly during school hours. The S.G.A. vice president presides. Each member reports to his homeroom and then reports the reaction of his homeroom to the activities discussed and their suggestions and comments. Each representative votes according to his homeroom's recommendation; he has an alternate in case he is absent or otherwise unable to attend.

Cabinet membership consists of every president and editor of every organization in the school. The group meets once a month.

Projects of S.G.A. range from helping sponsor a musical to staging a carnival.

The William G. Pyles Memorial Fund, set up by a group of principals and P.T.A. members shortly after the death of Mr. Pyles, is a trust fund for his thirteen-year-old son, Michael. S.G.A. conducted a drive at B-CC for contributions to this fund in the memory of Mr. Pyles.

One home football game, designated as Parent Saturday, honors the parents of B-CC students. After the game S.G.A. serves coffee and cookies to the honored guests.

Representatives sign up for various committees. The Activities Committee prepares the list of people eligible for Monograms to be presented during the Awards Assembly and restricts the participation of students in organizations and sports according to a point system.

Aiming for better student conduct, the Citizenship Council promotes such campaigns as "Take back your lunch tray" and "Go up and down the right stairways." S.G.A. also appointed a committee for Better Community Relations. A code of student behavior in business establishments was publicized.

Collecting and sorting canned foods received during the S.G.A. canned food drive is the duty of the Welfare Committee. Over 4000 cans of food were sent to the Montgomery County Christmas Board.

"Please sign up for selling refreshments," frequently urges the chairman of the Social Committee, for Social Committee is responsible for this sale at home football and basketball games. It makes arrangements for six dances and the S.G.A. Carnival in which every club is urged to have a booth.

Are Publicized

Baron pins and pennants are sold by the Athletic Committee, as well as "Beat Blair" signs. This committee is responsible for Blair Week activities and the Alumni Basketball Game.

To publicize all S.G.A. activities, the In-School and Out-of-School Publicity Committees were formed at B-CC. Their activities include publicizing football games, dances, and the school musical. The Out-of-School Publicity Committee is also in charge of two bulletin board displays, a radio program given every Saturday on WINX, and a column in a local newspaper.

OUT-OF-SCHOOL-PUBLICITY — Sitting: M. Smith; M. Olds, Chairman; E. Lent. Second Row: A. Watts, J. Chrzanowski, G. Latona.

IN-SCHOOL PUBLICITY — Bottom row: J. Desmond; S. Southmayd; M. Cardon, Chairman; S. Gehle; M. Miller. Second Row: S. Johnson, L. Brown, S. Shaw, V. Tiel.

Leah Hawkins and Jane Howard arrange the S.G.A. Bulletin Board each week. Accounts of Bethesda from the latest athletic events to the most recently wedded alumni are posted.

Participation, Work, & Fun

"Every member of the student body is a member of S.G.A." This statement is proved each time the call for volunteers is sounded by S.G.A. Elected representatives plan, but the students work. Committees have so many volunteer members no one can keep a record of them. The time spent by the publicity committees or the social committees equals the time spent in studying. The results establish new highs each year.

Fran Wetzel; Marty Cardon, chairman; and Sue Gehle operate the silk screen In-School-Publicity.

Decorating for the dance is almost as much fun as the dancing. A crepe paper ceiling creates the proper atmosphere.

Representatives from all the S.G.A.'s in Montgomery County high schools met in our new library. Knowles Little, parliamentarian from Richard Montgomery, presented the proposed constitution for the new region. Seated at the same table were Miss M. Elizabeth Brown, Walter Johnson, Nellie Aiken, vice president from Sherwood; Knowles; Nat Isikoff, treasurer from Northwood; Gail Yano and Tom Brown, secretary and president from Walter Johnson; and Frank Cornelius, chaplain from Gaithersburg.

Controller of the coke supply for dances and chief money-raising organization of the school are also designations of S.G.A. Total school projects are frequently financed in whole or part by their musical show — this year Damn Yankees.

Outside of school, S.G.A. belongs to the regional association; B-CC was host school for one of their meetings during the month of January.

Tryouts for Damn Yankees went on for days. This show replaced the annual Extravaganza, traditional money raising event of S.G.A.

We Honor Leaders, Scholars

Outstanding service, leadership, scholarship, and character are the qualifications necessary for membership in the National Honor Society. A faculty committee reviews the qualifications of candidates before they are honored by a Heel and Tie Day and tapped at a special assembly.

Members may help plan the N.H.S. Inductions, may work in Mr. Killen's office by recording early departure notes, and may tutor another student who is having trouble in a certain subject. This year they initiated a Book Sale. Whatever a member does, he is serving his school well.

Karen Fite and Steve Johnson congratulate each other on their Achievement Awards in the N.C.T.E. program. Richard Cunningham was also named.

Judy Warren helps with the early departures in Mr. Killen's office.

QUILL AND SCROLL — First Row: Claudia Levy, Kathy Janus, Gail Bensinger, Mary Gist, Laurie Giberman, Karen Fite, Kate Regan. Second Row: Margaret Fiddesof, Kay Kittle, Katherine

Recognizing Actors, Writers

To be elected to Quill and Scroll, an honorary writing organization, a person must rank in the top third of his class and have the recommendation of the sponsor of the paper, magazine, or yearbook. Its honored members attain the prestige of belonging to Quill and Scroll, pay dues, but attend no meetings.

National Thespian Troup 1221 of Bethesda-Chevy Chase Senior High School has three projects planned for this year. Two major play productions, The Taming of the Shrew and The Glass Menagerie, will be presented besides one induction of new members. They will also help stage Damn Yankees.

NATIONAL THESPIANS — Bottom Row: E. Eis; K. Finstad, President; C. Nutt. Second Row: M. Fiddesof, J. Goldsmith, B. Clapp, S. Strickland, J. McElroy, A. Roterus.

WHEEL CLUB — Bottom Row: S. Ferguson; J. Dunton; M. Wilbourn; C. Ravin; C. Taylor, President; D. Deutsch; J. Royce; J. Knutson; S. Bloom. Second Row: W. Payne, C. Morrell, D. Thompson, J. Ford, W. Petersen, F. Curtis. Third Row: B. Dearing, F. Heintz, D. Robertson, L. May, G. Smith, S. Eaton, L. Lambelet. Fourth Row: R. Roberts, P. White, J. Gimmel, D. Kreuger,

C. Needham, D. Hunt, D. Rice.

Our Motto Stands---We Serve

Presiding at Wheel Club International's Convention in Florida will be B-CC's own John Knutson. During Christmas vacation, he and Craig Taylor, president of the B-CC Chapter and secretary of the International, met in Washington with other delegates to plan the convention.

Sponsored locally by the Rotary Club, Wheel Club serves the school by coat-checking at dances, operating the scoreboard at football games, sponsoring Friendship Week, and raising and lowering the school flags.

Key Club, sponsored by Kiwanis, performed the following service projects: painting football goal posts, ushering and parking cars at school programs, distributing maps to away football games, and sponsoring a monthly attendance award. Through its guest speaker program, Key Club members have heard Senator Carlson, Representative Belcher, and Associate Justice Clark.

The local club is part of the Division, District, and International Club.

KEY CLUB — Sitting: R. Guthrie; B. Gillis; B. Requa; Mr. Downtown, Sponsor; C. Rodgers, President; M. Mitchell; L. Ferguson; H. Pearce; P. Combs. Second Row: D. McNair, D. Chen, D. Richmond, A. Flemming, M. Bunim, D. Jones, R. Reigart, D. Boone, P. Craven, R. Logan. Third Row: J. Kirk, L. Amick, J. Keker, R. Aaronson, D. Duvall, A. Goldenberg, M. Scharf, E. Coover, B. Beaver. Fourth Row: R. Smith, R. Lingle, P. Fletcher, D. Cunningham, T. Huffman, M. Smith, B. Fitz, J. Williams.

School, Community, Country

Keyette Club, organized only last year as the counterpart to Key Club, was formed as a girls' honorary service organization. This year it has presented the Mistletoe Ball "Frosted Fantasy", helped supervise the playground at Junior Village, sung Christmas carols for an old folks home, and sells doughnuts and milk in the cafeteria before school every day.

Adopting a new Korean orphan last summer to clothe and educate, Kassai raises money through various activities to support Kim Chang Sim. Bake sales head the list of activities followed by the making and selling of pom-poms, the auction of lost and found articles, and a fashion show in the spring. Coordinating all four service organizations, Kassai planned a co-ed volleyball game, complete with costumes and decorations, and a charge for admission.

Stage Crew, Visual Aids, Electronics

"Whenever there is a play, we do all the technical work," boasts the Stage Crew. This group has been in charge of the lighting, prerecorded sounds, and microphone placement for The Taming of the Shrew, The Glass Menagerie, and Damn Yankees, the three plays presented at B-CC this year.

If films or slides are requested by a teacher for classroom use, the Audio Visual Aids Crew sets up the equipment. Preparing and broadcasting tapes of school life for S.G.A. and providing equipment for dances also fall within its duties.

This year the Electronics Club has added a new service to the school. Radiograms are being sent throughout North America from the school's "ham" radio or individual club members' sets. Its members also converse with people of other nations.

VISUAL AIDS STAFF — Bottom Row: J. Bell, J. Goldsmith, President; J. McElroy. Second Row: H. Moxley, M. Terry.

Craig Taylor presides at a morning meeting of Wheel Club.

John Goldsmith, Harold Moxley, Jack Bell, Jim McElroy, and Douglas Jones return equipment to the Audio-Visual Room.

Senator Carlson addresses a Key Club meeting.

Our Goal Service

"Service is our aim" and our service clubs ask regularly for projects. No request goes unfulfilled. Greatest boom to ambitious students was the Keyettes "Breakfast Program." Members help serve milk and doughnuts for students who arrive on early buses.

But the one group that doesn't ask for project suggestions is the Audio-Visual Crew. They're kept busy every minute getting the equipment to the right place, at the right time.

Bob Lokerson sends radiograms as a service for Electronics Club.

Volunteers join Kassai president, Pat Finan, in the making of Pom Pons.

Melodious Voices Blend

Tenth Grade Chorus is composed of sophomores in Mr. Messick's music classes. Early morning rehearsals become a regular requirement as the year progresses and the scheduled public performances draw near.

The Christmas Assembly is the combined responsibility of the Orchestra and the Chorus. Programs for the junior highs are scheduled early second semester; their final performance is for our own graduation.

CHORUS —Bottom Row: L. Dale, J. Hughes, B. Tait, N. Grey, S. Amergor, M. Mills. Second Row: G. Christifield, J. Trumble, K. Ross, J. Moses, M. Buchwald, A. Williams, P. Maunly. Third Row: S. King, J. Combs, B. Van Camp, S. Burlingame, V. Port, G. Plicka, J. Megby, C. Bryant, K. Keefaufer, B. Purell, A. Amerline, M. Buchwald. Fourth Row: M. Kurp, S. Stevenson, P. Dorney, M. England, A. Burnett, C. Goeltz, J. Kruesburg, M. Krause, S. Whit. Fifth Rows J. Harris, M. Hogan, T. Scott, D. Osborn, G. Tietz, B. Moss, W. Bortz.

With A Staccato Of Strings

As the violins produce their haunting melodies, the oboes their resonant tones, the other members of the Orchestra join in the playing of "Joy to the World" at the Christmas Assembly.

The Orchestra plays for the Honor Society Assembly each fall and spring and the Easter Assembly which is a spring fashion show.

The Orchestra and Chorus combine their talents to provide the musical background for the all-school show, Damn Yankees. Accompaniments are the work of our own orchestra. The orchestra also presents programs for the three junior high schools sending their students to B-CC.

Participating in Orchestra Day at the University of Maryland and playing Pomp and Circumstance at graduation culminates its activities.

"This year the Band is better and more organized than ever before," boasts the members. The new band room is, in part, the answer. More togetherness as a band and as a social group is the other part. As a social group, the Band held a beatnik party and a hayride.

As a unit, the B-CC Band plays for such school as-semblies as Memorial Day, performs during half-time at football games, supplies a pep band for rallies and basketball games, and participates in the Silver Spring, Wheaton, and Bethesda parades. It also competes in the Lion's competition and presents an annual Budget Concert to which the public is invited.

BAND — Bottom Row: W. Lim, S. Sommer, J. Loomis, J. Reichley, R. Kramer, W. Fernbach, B. Termini. Second Row: J. Phillips, S. Liston, C. Bloom, L. Van Landingham, V. Voelker, A. Mackall, M. # Alleluias Float In Space Echo Praise And Joy

Whether singing a Bach Chorale in unison or a lilting English ballad in a madrigal, A Capella Choir plays an important role in the appreciation of fine music at B-CC.

Emphasized this year in the choir program is the presentation of compositions in their native tongue. "Now Thank We All Our God" by Bach was sung in German at the Honor Society Induction. At the Christmas Concert the works of a French and a Chinese composer were presented.

The Folk Festival included a program of Czecho-slavakian and Hebrew folk songs.

Those who wished more of a musical joined the Madrigal Group which gave performances at Barker Hall for the National Federation of Music Clubs and for the Composers Concert.

The new year began with a big goal in view. The group rehearsed and practiced, watching tone, diction, and dynamics.

Eagerly the choir prepared for the scheduled performances under the arches of the National Cathedral and for our Service for Graduates.

Freund, Amigo, Ami

Seeking to acquaint themselves with German customs and culture, Deutscher Verein members learn folk songs, watch movies and film strips, hear talks by native Germans on life and the arts, and enjoy German Gerullichkeit at their annual restaurant visit.

Members listen to the Bible story read in German while it is acted out in tableau form at their Christmas party. Deutscher Verein is also the only language organization in school having its name in the tongue of the mother country.

To become a member of the Spanish Club, a person must want to learn about Spanish speaking countries and the language itself. Spanish songs are sung and skits are presented at meetings so that members may become more familiar with their subject.

Speakers are invited to talk about the different Spanish speaking countries. Members also learn about Spanish food by visiting a native restaurant. A special activity of the club this year was preparing a float for the Blair-B-CC football game.

DEUTSCHER VEREIN — Sitting: K. Frank, K. Olsson, M. Squires. Second Row: C. Draves, M. George, M. Scott, L. Mueller, A. Moeller.

ham, B. Whitney, M. Bunim, S. Arnold, D. Glazer. Third Row: J. Eveland, R. Robertson, S. Kahn, T. Washer.

Amicus, Too, Equals Friend

"C'est la vie!" exclaims the president of the French Club as she sits down to dinner at the club's annual visit to a French restaurant. Members of the club view French movies and participate in discussions of French current events.

Newly named this year, the Classics Club sponsors Greek lessons with textbooks, the newspaper "Nunties Aurocaerulers" written in Latin and English, and speakers on such subjects as Roman aqueducts. Slides orienting members with Rome are shown at meetings.

Lab And Dab

"May I help you?" asks a member of the Arts Club as an interested person decides on the exact picture to be purchased at the Arts Fair. Raising money through the Fair, the S.G.A. Carnival, and bake sales for a senior scholarship, furthering the appreciation of the Arts, encouraging interest in the Arts as a profession, and enriching members' experiences through lectures, demonstrations, and visits to exhibits in the Metropolitan area is the four-fold purpose of the Arts Club.

MATH CLUB

"Will you explain this algebra problem?" asks a student of a Math Club member. Besides sponsoring a tutoring service, Math Club supplies books for our school library and holds a math contest for which a subscription to Scientific America is awarded as first prize.

SCIENCE CLUB

"Sis-s-s," an experiment has just been completed by the Science Club. Lectures and field trips are also planned to further the members' knowledge of scientific findings. This club is in charge of the B-CC Science Fair and responsible for a scientific display in one of the showcases during National Science Week.

SCIENCE CLUB — Bottom Row: J. Carter, D. Chen, President; E. Hutchinson, J. Kaplan. Second Row: E. Gagge, A. Watts, J. Denison, P. Easman, K. Brown. Third Row: J. Eric, D. Field, S. Brent, S. Derry, J. Beattie, K. Kittle. Fourth Row: J. Haldeman, M. Brenner, M. Thompson, P. Sinsky, R. Metcalf.

Tenth Grade Chorus and the Orchestra provided the music for the Christmas Assembly.

Extra Curricula

Listening to records and reading German literature orally was one program of the German Club.

Ninth graders from Western Junior High visited our school and sang with our choir before registration for next year.

Concentration in the flute section resulted in a polished Band rendition.

Mr. Nagel's speech to the Spanish Club will be long remembered for its South American influence.

With A Yell And A Twirl

"Go, Barons, go!" sound the voices of our spirited cheerleaders whose ready smiles and endless enthusiasm aid our fans in cheering on the Barons in football, basketball, or track. They also choose and instruct Tri-Tilt cheerleaders.

"About face!" instructs the captain of the Pom Pon Team during a sixth period practice. Besides participating in half-time performances at football games, the Pom Pon Team represents B-CC whenever and wherever the band appears.

POM PONS — Bottom Row: N. Oberdick, Captain; L. Briggs. Second Row: M. Meininger, M. Martin, C. Mehloer, P. Lavery, C. Hall, A. Hofstra, A. Parkinson, S. Haines, M. Laqueur, M. Jansky. Third Row: V. Ames, K. Kittle, P. Walsh, M. Vogt, G.

MAJORETTES — First Row: M. Heins, D. Grimes, S. Barnes, Captain; J. DuBois, S. Wright. Second Row: J. Lipscomb, L.

Tighe, B. Fagan, M. Gist. Third Row: J. Colton, M. Wills, B. Audley, C. Wilson.

We Boost A Fighting Team

Leading the Snake Dance during Blair Week, the Majorettes and Flag Twirlers swing their batons for a good show. The girls practice during sixth period gym for the duration of the football season, a new privilege this year.

Appearing in white bulky knit sweaters, the Pep Club adds enthusiasm and support to the various athletic events at B-CC. It sells miniature megaphones, creates a card section, and publicizes football and basketball games to insure support of our team.

PEP CLUB — Sitting: A. Richards, J. MacDonald, President; J. Eaton. Second Row: A. Ferber, L. Cassell, E. Waldman, C. Lisee, S. Burke.

Home, School-Future P.T.A.

"That sure tastes good," agrees a member of the Future Homemakers of America Club as she tests a colleague's cooking. A chapter of the National F.H.A., this club attends Regional and State meetings, sells octopi at football games, supplies a Christmas dinner for a needy family, and decorates Easter baskets.

A charter member of the Montgomery County Future Teachers Council, the Future Teachers of America Club gives a faculty tea, participates in National Education Week, visits an elementary and junior high school to view classes in action, and publishes the Appraisal, a bi-monthly newspaper for the faculty.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA — Sitting: M. Boys, C. Patrick, N. Kane, K. Allen, President; M. Wiles, N. Matthews, G. Voelker. Second Row: R. Yuen, C. Laughlin, B. McDaniel, D. Hughes, V. Wiley, F. Shaw, R. Scharry, M. Kundahl. Third

GIRLS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION — Bottom Row: G. Latona, A. Ferebee, C. Southmayd, J. Jones, President; C. Brately, C. Lang. Second Row: J. DuBois, P. Finan, C. Dickerman, M. Krause,

C. Day, B. Miles. Third Row: P. McLaughlin, C. Hall, J. Baker, N. Sutin, S. Johnson, G. Forman. Fourth Row: S. Southmayd, L. Rimel, M. Dirks, O. Friend, G. Ryan, H. Stout.

Exercising Minds And Bodies

B-CC's largest organization, the Girls' Athletic Association presents a variety of seasonal sports spread throughout the school year as an intermural program. The G.A.A., governed by a council of executive officers and sports managers, also sponsors sport days, monograms, a tri-tilt, and a G.A.A. alumni game.

Traveling to the National Naval Medical Center on a field trip, the Future Doctors' and Nurses' Club toured the buildings, thus increasing their knowledge of medicine and its related fields. Members listen to speakers and watch medical films and demonstrations to further their know-how.

We Discover New Horizons

SCIENCE FICTION CLUB — Bottom Row: B. Bergman, J. Walker, B. Ferrill, President; G. Laki, C. Curtis. Second Row: H. Fisher, C. Wagley, S. Ogilby, S. White. Third Row: E. Dzirian, N. Ferguson, J. Riechman, M. Hagan.

LIBRARY CLUB — K. Liston, M. White, H. Frenkley, President; M. Neisser, M. Mills.

SCIENCE FICTION CLUB

Science fiction lends itself well to many different types of club activities, as the members of the Science Fiction Club will testify. The current popularity of science fiction in movies, on television, and in books gives the club a wealth of debatable material. Science fiction poetry writing has been attempted by members as well as bake sales and auctions to raise money to supply a four hundred book library and to start a file library.

LIBRARY CLUB

Round table discussions of popular books head the list of activities of the Library Club, an organization of students interested in books and libraries. Its members are responsible for decorating the show cases in the library hall, for sponsoring National Book Week, and for participating in the Maryland Council of Student Library Clubs.

CREATIVE WRITING CLUB

Hokku, ballad, and lyric poetry, besides narrative, descriptive, and explanatory writing, have been studied at meetings of the Creative Writing Club. The drawing of designs to make compositions clearer in meaning has also been added to the club agenda.

CREATIVE WRITING CLUB — E. Brant, C. Hill, President; A. Neff. Second Row: R. Mecca, E. Morack, C. Hooton, P. Jones, J. Tupper, B. Foer.

We Solve Foreign Problems

CHESS CLUB

"Checkmate!" announces a member of the Chess Club to his opponent. Besides weekly games between members, instruction and advice is given to those who have just learned to play matches with chess clubs of other schools.

DEBATE CLUB

Through debating other schools in Montgomery and Prince Georges Counties, the B-CC Debate Club, a member of the National Forensic League, gains valuable experience. Practicing the procedure and tactics of debating at meetings, this club then attends such conferences as the one held at George Washington University.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

To promote an understanding of world affairs, the International Relations Club has several panel discussions on current events such as the admittance of Red China into the United Nations. Numerous speakers, including Mr. Robert Hartman who accompanied Vice President Nixon through Russia, have been invited to speak at meetings.

Avid Interests

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB — Bottom Row: R. Wohl, R. Kinsey, T. Cox, President; K. Neil. Second Row: P. Clark, J. Crocker, F. Knight, J. Ware. Third Row: M. Yaffe, B. Luria, J. Weber.

"Flash!" A Photography Club member has just taken a picture of his girl friend. He rushes to the school's darkroom to develop the film, using the techniques learned on the field trip to Crown Photo Finishers. The money needed to supply the darkroom has been earned through dues and the S.G.A. Carnival. As the club member looks at his developed picture, he realizes he has gotten only half of his friend's face and then mutters to himself, "Better luck next time!"

BRIDGE CLUB

BRIDGE CLUB — Bottom Row: M. Schwab, M. Hughes, D. Hansen, A. Curtis. Second Row: E. Michelsen, N. Matthews, C. Shea, J. Edwards, M. Levering. Third Row: B. Foer, V. Reed, B. Brown, R. Engler.

Learning to play bridge well is the aim of the Bridge Club. The members meet once a week to enjoy a game and debate the wisdom of a no trump bid with no aces in the hand.

RIFLE CLUB

"Bang!" an interested student shoots a .22 caliber rifle at a target under the direction of the Rifle Club. After shooting a qualifying target, the student must pass a written test on gun fundamentals in order to become a member of the club. Every Friday either a match against another school or practice at Montgomery Blair High School Rifle Range is held.

Planning, Acting, Progressing

Future Doctors and Nurses toured Naval Medical with Ensign Holliday as their guide.

Future Teachers held a candle lighting induction with parents and teachers invited to the ceremony.

The concentration of chess holds its members no matter what the surrounding.

New library and a new display case demand the attention of students, particularly of Lorraine Wilson who is doing the arranging.

Future Homemakers practice their cooking talents when most students have left for the day. There are fewer to sample the delicacies that way!

TATTLER — D. Cohen; R. Keiner, Editor; D. Mack, M. Janes. Second Row: G. Goodwin, G. Bensinger, C. Stein, C. Levy. Third Row: M. Gist, C. Page, R. Rea, P. Hewson.

Reporting, Creating, Writing

"Do you have any news tips?" asks a member of the Tattler Staff of a fellow student. Reporting the school news quickly and accurately, the Tattler is published twelve times a year by the journalism class. It has received the National Scholastic Press Association award of an All-American rating for the twenty-second consecutive year.

"Write for Chips, B-CC's literary magazine," states the hall posters. The best literary work is chosen by the staff, edited, and published in Chips. Then the staff, consisting of sophomores, juniors, and seniors, produces a magazine worthy of recognition by the American Association of University Women.

CHIPS — Bottom Row: M. Neisser; Miss Gould, Sponsor; K. Fite, Editor; K. Regan. Second Row: S. Johnson, B. Kamarck, F. Wittman. Third Row: M. Fiddesof, N. Blum, M. White, V. Giberman.

PINE TREE — Bottom Row: E. Jenkins, D. Brown, Editor; F. Wetzel. Second Row: K. Janus, R. Logan, K. Kittle, A. Rice. Third Row: G. Baker, D. Bingham, C. Gambell.

For Your Future Reference

Underclassmen are identified by the Twigs early in November.

"If you wish to try out for the Pine Tree staff report to Room 239 Thursday afternoon." For twelve students, this announcement starts a yearbook career which involves working sixth period either on the senior section, layout, advertising, clubs, copy, or proof reading. Art work, school life, and sports are done outside of school hours. The staff often works after school to meet its deadlines and produce your yearbook.

When the staff began to work, the office seemed as crowded as this.

Our Patrons

Our deepest gratitude to

- Miss Leonora Aiken for handling Senior photographs.
- Mrs. Lorraine H. Hatfield for handling finances for patron letters, budget cards, and special orders.
- Mr. Frank MacIntyre of Zamsky Studios for taking Senior pictures and action shots.
- The patrons, named and anonymous, whose generous donations made the printing of our yearbook possible.
- The Homeroom Twigs for their excellent job of collecting fees and distributing yearbooks.
- Miss Bernadette Sheehan and the Art Staff for doing such a terrific job.
- The entire Pine Tree staff for their perseverance and hard work in putting our book together.
- Our adviser, Mrs. Elizabeth Layton, most of all, without whose suggestions, assistance, and patience the production of the 1960 Pine Tree would not have been possible.

Dick, or not I'm going to say it. It has been fun being in classes and hometown with you. You a sweet guy and I think the world of you. I hope we can still see each other after school ends.
Take care and good luck always.

Love you,
Minnie

Dick -

The best in everything you do.
I'm sorry we haven't gotten to know each other better.

Minnie
